U.S. Sub Sinks Another Jap Ship

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States submarine has sunk a Japanese cruiser of destroyer in the western Aleutians, the navy announced today, bringing to 23 the total of enemy ships announced as sunk or damaged in that area.

The navy said that conditions made it impossible to determine an exact identification of the ship destroyed.

Big Nazi Raider In S. Atlantic

A U.S. ATLANTIC PORT (AP)—A heavily-armed German surface raider is active in the South Atlantic, U.S. Navy revealed today after safe arrival of 10 survivors of an American merchant vessel sunk by torpedoes and shellfire from the German ship.

Second officer of the lost craft, a naturalized American citizen who asked his name be not used because he had relatives in Germany, said at least 15 of his crewmates were killed by shells or machine-gun fire which came from three points simultaneously and he believed about 20 others were taken prisoner by the raider.

Captain of the sunken ship, also a native of Germany but now a naturalized American, said he believed the raider had at least six guns, and some of her armament was of eight-inch calibre.

1,500 Prisoners, Germans Claim

BERLIN (From German broadcasts, CP)—Special German communiqué on the Dieppe battle tonight claimed 60 Canadian officers had been taken prisoner.

Germans claimed a total of 1,500 prisoners and asserted 28 tanks were destroyed.

Communicate said invading troops were transferred from transports at sea to between 300 and 400 landing barges.

(Combined operations headquarters in Britain announced casualties are likely to have been heavy on both sides.)

RAID BOOMS WHEAT PRICE

CHICAGO (AP)—The heavy Allied attack on the French coast today helped to touch off one of the strongest grain market rallies in weeks.

Wheat led the upturn, gaining as much as 2 cents a bushel at one stage, and other cereals pushed upward almost as far in some cases.

'Awk' Says Goodbye

CAIRO (AP)—A farewell message to the British 8th Army from Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck this afternoon announced that in the last two months in Egypt Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has lost 10,000 Axis troops in prisoners alone.

"In the last two weeks," the retiring Middle East commander told his forces, "you have stopped the enemy and forced him on the defensive."

The Egyptian battlefield remained quiet today.

To Enforce Dim-out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Coastal dim-out regulations which millions of westerners have been observing voluntarily, if haphazardly, for the past several weeks become fully effective in the United States under military mandate at midnight tonight.

That is the hour set for enforcement of an army proclamation creating a "zone of restricted lighting" in which, for as long as the war lasts, no street signs may be turned on at night, no intense ground illumination, such as in baseball parks, will be permitted and all other exterior lighting must be shielded so as to be invisible from above.

Canadians Lead Commando Raid On France Objectives Gained After Day-long Battle

At Gates of War Brazil Recalls Troops on Leave

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—All Brazilian soldiers on leave were recalled urgently to duty today and the navy forbade furloughs for regular reserves as this nation at the "gates of war" hastened steps to meet the threat of Axis submarines that recently sank five Brazilian ships.

One of the submarines lurking off these coasts was destroyed by a United States plane, a Brazilian official announced.

It was learned authoritatively that two submarines had been located at widely separated positions in the Western Atlantic and that one was of enormous size.

Meanwhile a merchant marine spokesman said all Brazilian coastal waters were clear of shipping and that 13 ships which were in the submarine zone had reached ports safely.

First official word of the sinking came from Cmdr. Ernani A. R. Amaral Peixoto, federal liaison officer in the state of Rio de Janeiro, who told a crowd gathered before the presidential palace that one of the undersea raiders had been destroyed.

Government press department and other accounts in Brazilian newspapers gave this version of the attack:

The submarine was sighted 50 miles off Brazil's coast by a United States plane piloted by Capt. Jack Lacey. The plane dived, machine-gunning the submarine and forcing it to the surface with bombs when it attempted to submerge.

The Diario Carioca, quoting authorized sources, said the submarine apparently was damaged in this first attack. The plane dived again, this time finishing the submarine with direct bomb hits.

Throughout the country Brazilians called upon the government to avenge the affront to Brazil's honor and the apparent loss of several hundred lives, including those of women and children, in the recent wave of ship losses.

Meanwhile, a naval spokesman said an Axis surface raider prowling the South Atlantic had been sighted near the Brazilian island of Trindade, 1,000 miles off the coast several days ago.

London Papers Splash Raid News

LONDON (CP Cable)—Late evening newspapers told in streamer headlines story of the assault on Dieppe.

Star said editorially "it heartens the United Nations, it is a chosen and destined road to larger developments."

Evening News termed it "a raid de luxe" and said "it shows we are moving away from the smaller hit-and-run type of raiding operation in the dark and that we have confidence in these attacks on the enemy's coastal zones."

Ralston Tells of Raid

Maj.-Gen. Roberts Leads Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian troops who participated in the raid on Dieppe were under command of Maj.-Gen. J. H. Roberts, one of Canada's divisional commanders overseas, Defence Minister Ralston announced today.

The minister issued the following statement on the operation: "In the raid on the Dieppe area the troops of the Canadian army have at last had a chance in action."

"As is well known, they had been detailed for different tasks on three previous occasions, but were withdrawn in each instance on orders of the high command."

"Until we have official information, it is not possible to comment on the press reports and communiques issued from the United Kingdom."

"The operation has been under preparation for some time. It is correct that Canadians made up a very substantial portion of the troops who participated. They were under the command of Maj.-Gen. Roberts."

EXPANDING ROLE

Participation of Canadian troops in the latest and largest commando raid on the enemy-occupied European coast, is taken as an indication of a new and expanding role for the Canadian in offensive warfare.

Gen. Roberts, 51, is from Kingston, Ont., and is an experienced permanent force officer who, if he went ashore with the attacking force, made his second visit to French territory in the present war.

He was in France in command of an artillery formation in June, 1940, when some Canadian units were moved there to support the retreating Allied armies but, with the rest of the Canadians, was ordered back to England before they engaged the enemy.

Gen. Roberts was born at Pipestone, Man. He graduated from Royal Military College at Kingston, a few months before the outbreak of war in 1914 and saw extensive service in France with the artillery.

MAJ.-GEN. J. H. ROBERTS

After peace came he made the army his career and when the present war broke out was a lieutenant-colonel. He went overseas with the 1st division, was promoted brigadier in the summer of 1941, and after assuming command of a division was promoted to rank of major-general last April.

Among many units participating in recent manoeuvres in England from which men in today's assault probably were chosen, were the Royal Hamilton light infantry, Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg, Toronto Scottish machine-gunners, Royal Regiment of Toronto, Essex Scottish from Windsor, Ont., South Saskatchewan Regiment, Fusiliers Mont Royal, and large detachments of engineers, signal corps and communications men and headquarters officers.

Communique On Raid

LONDON (CP)—Text of the communique issued tonight combined operations headquarters follows:

"Despite the clear statement in our first communique at 6 o'clock this morning and broadcast to the French at 6.15 about the raid on Dieppe, German propaganda, unable to make other capital out of the turn the operation has taken, is claiming the raid was an invasion attempt which they have frustrated."

"In point of fact, re-embarkation of the main forces engaged was begun six minutes after the time scheduled and has been completed nine hours after the initial landing, as planned."

"Some tanks have been lost during action ashore, and reports show that fighting has been very fierce and casualties are likely to have been heavy on both sides."

"A full report will not be available until our forces are back in England."

"In addition to destruction of a six-gun battery and ammunition dump reported in our earlier communique, a radio location station and a flak (anti-aircraft) battery, were destroyed."

"Apart from losses inflicted on the enemy, vital experience has been gained in the employment of substantial numbers of troops in an assault and in transportation and use of heavy equipment during combined operations."

"Our new tank landing craft were in action today for the first time."

"There was intense activity by aircraft of all operational commands of the R.A.F. in support of the landing of our troops against heavy enemy defences, and air fighting on a most intense scale also developed."

"From reports so far received 72 enemy aircraft are known to have been destroyed in addition to a number, shot down by naval vessels. More than 100 enemy aircraft also were probably destroyed or damaged."

"Ninety-five of our aircraft of all commands are missing, but 21 fighter pilots are known to be safe, and it is hoped that others will prove to have been rescued."

Crash Kills 6

DUNNVILLE, ONT. (CP)—Six airmen were killed Tuesday night when a R.C.A.F. training plane from No. 1 Bombing and Gunnery School at Jarvis, Ont., crashed into Lake Erie.

The crash occurred off nearby Evans Point, a few miles below the school bombing range. Names of the victims have been withheld until next-of-kin have been notified.

Nazi Reserves Bolster Drive Into Caucasus

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—The Germans poured strong reserves today into the Don bend and Caucasus battles from south of Voronezh to the high plains of Pyatigorsk and the bolstered onslaught pre-empted a full-scale drive against Stalingrad and along the Baku rail line to the shores of the Caspian.

The Russians fell back in the Don bend where their counter-offensive appeared spent, and gave ground in the region of Pyatigorsk, 170 miles southeast of the destroyed and abandoned Maikop oil fields.

In London a British source whom it was not permitted to identify by name said the Germans had made some progress toward Stalingrad, reaching but not crossing the Don River at the bend. He declared, however, that Russian resistance had stiffened in the Caucasus, slowing German progress considerably.

Georgievsk Junction Next Nazi Objective

The Nazi drive down the Rostov-Baku rail line across the Caucasus had as its next apparent objective beyond Pyatigorsk and Mineralnye Vody the rail junction town of Georgievsk, only a few miles beyond the Nazi spearheads.

Grozny, heart of the Grozny oil fields, lies 130 miles southeast along the railway, and the Caspian is 100 miles beyond Grozny.

In the northwestern Caucasus the Russians reported repulsing German attacks in the Krasnodar area 60 miles east of the port of Novorossiisk.

While the Germans "succeeded in somewhat pressing back our troops" in the Pyatigorsk sector, Cossacks cut down 300 of them with sabres in a surprise raid, the Soviet information bureau announced at mid-day.

Defenders of the Krasnodar region, of the western Caucasus, counter-attacking at intervals, routed a German infantry regiment and destroyed many trucks and seven German tanks, the bureau said.

While the Germans gained in a Don bend sector, three vain attacks were cited in which they lost four tanks and more than 300 men. More than 100 German automatic riflemen were reportedly slain on the approaches to a village.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—A DNB broadcast said today that Russian air raiders struck against Germany Tuesday night at several places in East and West Prussia.

Armada of 1,000 Planes Covers Men and Tanks; Not 2nd Front Says BBC

LONDON (CP)—Re-embarkation of Allied forces engaged in the Dieppe battle has been completed, combined operations headquarters announced tonight.

The announcement, from British combined operations (Commando) headquarters, added casualties on both sides in the all-day battle are likely to have been heavy.

A German radio location station has been destroyed and an anti-aircraft battery wiped out, the communique added.

Ninety-five British aircraft are missing and 72 enemy planes are known to have been destroyed.

Re-embarkation was completed "nine hours after the initial landings, as planned," the communique declared.

By ALAN RANDAL

LONDON (CP)—Canadian army forces, supported by British, American and Fighting French Commandos, stormed the French coast on the broad beaches around Dieppe at dawn today, and with tanks and the greatest aerial umbrella ever spread aloft fought on throughout the day against the German defenders.

Every Canadian fighter squadron in Britain was in action in support of their countrymen on the ground. There was a constant procession of more than 1,000 Canadian, British and American fighters and bombers from British front-line airbases to the battle zone in France.

Despite the unprecedented scope of the attack by the Commandos, the BBC repeatedly announced that the action was not an invasion intended to create a front in Western Europe but was only a raid. This was supported by the return to Britain this afternoon of some of the forces who had accomplished their mission speedily.

Despite the great concentration of planes, it was reported reliably that no parachutists were used. "From dawn on through late afternoon the constant thundering roar of heavy explosions denoting the battle's continuance shook buildings on the English side of the channel."

Flying Fortresses Smash at Airdrome

Escorted by Canadian and British fighters, two squadrons of United States Flying Fortresses smashed at one base of Nazi aerial resistance in a high-level bombing of a German fighter station at Abbeville, 38 miles northeast of Dieppe, setting buildings afire and smashing runways.

As the battle thundered on, first units of the commando force, who had speedily accomplished their mission, returned to a British port in gay spirits.

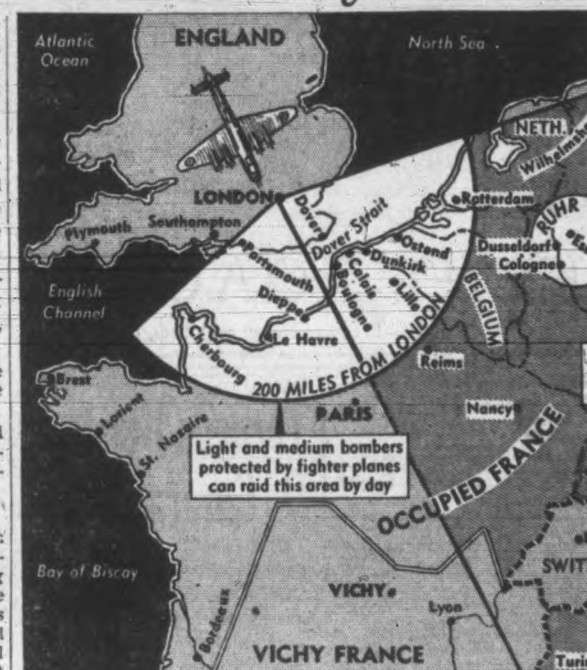

There was no immediate indication how many men returned in the first group, nor whether Canadians, who made up the bulk of the troops involved and about one-third of the entire expedition, were among them.

It was presumed those who returned constituted the wing of the Allied force which a communique said accomplished its objective and withdrew.

The German radio was heard broadcasting this account of the fighting: "The German counter-attack against troops which landed at Dieppe is taking a successful course. Advancing German troops repelled the enemy and hourly increased the British losses in men and material. A number of prisoners already have fallen into German hands."

It was believed that Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, accompanied the Canadian forces, across the channel. He has not been in touch with his office for several days, his absence paralleling the secret operation time of the Dieppe expedition.

The Canadian forces in Britain thus had their first test against the German enemy, just as the new Canadian-United States so-called super-commandos began training at Helena, Mont., for similarly arduous invasion work.

While the vital job of providing aerial cover to the land forces was not new to the R.C.A.F., it would be the first time that the Canadian Army Co-operation Squadron—which were understood to be participating—had undertaken a commando job.

The operation followed by only a few weeks the disclosure that Canadian forces had been engaged in the most intensive invasion manoeuvres ever staged in Britain, manoeuvres that involved the landing of tanks in the face of hostile action.

Canadians in Van Of Landing Force

The Canadian Press learned that Canadian troops comprise the main body of the landing forces, constituting about one-third of the total personnel taking part.

The raid, by virtue of its larger scope, was seen as marking an important forward step in a planned program of offensive action.

No matter what the result, an operation of this size is sure to provide invaluable experience in the employment of substantial forces and in the transport and use of heavy equipment.

For the fighting French it was their first landing on French soil since they were evacuated to Britain after the fall of France in 1940. The American Rangers are a picked outfit from the United States army forces in Britain, named after a colonial American fighting unit which won fame in the French and Indian wars.

The Canadians, who recently participated in the greatest attack manoeuvres ever held, took tanks with them.

There was strict secrecy surrounding the raid and it was not until some hours after it was announced fighting was in progress against heavy opposition that it was made known that Canadian forces made up the bulk of the attack.

This was the first opportunity since the Canadians participated in the famous Spitzbergen raid that they had to carry out an attack for which they had been especially trained.

That they had learned their tasks well was shown by the combined operations report that one landing party was initially repulsed but managed to carry the beach by assault.

Especially on the left flank of the Canadian attack was heavy opposition encountered while tanks were landed in the centre and troops on the right flank achieved their objective.

The right flank force knocked out a six-gun battery, destroyed an ammunition dump and then re-embarked combined operations headquarters said in a noon communique while the fighting continued.

The Canadians had been waiting for just such a chance as the Dieppe raid since they began training with the commandos headed by Vice-Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, who watched their most recent attack training.

McNaughton Absent From Track Meeting

The fact Canadian soldiers were participating in the raid was known only to the highest Canadian army authorities but more than one soldier noted the absence of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian army commander, from the Canadian forces track and field championships Saturday, at which time he presumably was making last-minute arrangements for the embarkation of his troops.

It seemed unlikely the Canadian army commander was along on the raid, however, as he conferred with Maj. C. G. Power, Canadian air minister, on Monday and it now is known that the Canadian commandos started off on the raid before that date.

The Canadians already had suffered more than one disappointment when all was set for a raid on the continent and at the last minute the plans were called off. Announcement that the attack met with stiff opposition means that for the first time Canadian land forces have been in action with the Germans. Canadians who reached France just before Dunkerque in 1940 were ordered back.

The raid, first announced at 6.45 a.m. (12.45 a.m., P.D.T.), was still continuing at noon when a supplementary communique was issued.

After that, as the mists burned away and a fine, fair day developed, persons on the English coast still could hear the heartening sounds of offensive battle.

Informed quarters cautioned, however, that for all broad participation of troops, tanks, naval guns and planes, the raiding forces would be withdrawn when they had achieved their objectives. This was not a second front.

Their objectives obviously were extensive, since it was the first time landing parties have used tanks.

The objectives appeared to be these: To test the enemy's defence organization and to test the Allied plans for landing and the air force's ability to cover a big landing force.

Torpedo Blasts On Curacao Beach

MILLESSTAD, Curacao, Netherlands West Indies (AP)—Allied navy and army forces started search for enemy submarines off the south coast of Curacao today after two torpedoes exploded on the beach.

An official announcement said: "Late yesterday afternoon explosions were felt throughout the city of Willemstad and persons on the south shore of Curacao saw water geysers thrown into the air at spots where two enemy torpedoes struck the beach. Appropriate action was taken immediately by naval and military authorities, and within a few minutes depth charges had been dropped in the suspected areas."

Curacao, an oil refining centre, is garrisoned by United States forces in co-operation with the Dutch.

The firing of the torpedoes marked the third attack in this area by enemy submarines.

Russia Estimates German Losses

Nazis Lose 1,250,000, Drain West Europe to Battle Reds

MOSCOW (AP)—The Germans have lost 1,250,000 men in three months, 480,000 of them killed, and are draining reserve strength from all western Europe to bolster the drive into Russia, according to a special communique from the Soviet Information Bureau.

The period for the announced casualties was between May 15 and Aug. 15.

Soviet losses for the same period were given as 606,000 dead, wounded and missing.

The Germans were reported to have lost 3,390 tanks, 4,000 guns of various calibre, and not less than 4,000 planes since May 15. Soviet losses were listed as 2,240 tanks, 3,152 guns and 2,198 planes.

The Russians announced last June the Germans had lost 10,000,000 men in the first year of the war, of which 4,500,000 were killed.

But despite these losses the Germans were admitted to have "considerable superiority in troops and equipment on several sectors of the front," because of the transfer of 22 divisions from France, Belgium and Holland to the Russian front.

Another 70 divisions, the announcement said, were mobilized by the Germans for anti-Russian service in Italy, Rumania, Hungary and Slovakia. Compulsory mobilization also has been carried out in Nazi-conquered Poland and Czechoslovakia, the Russians said.

The Russians acknowledged severe industrial and territorial losses in the Don basin and the Caucasus, where the Germans have made great strides, but said this offensive was "at a much slower tempo than in the first period of the war."

ANNIHILATING GERMANS

In the north the Russians said they were conducting offensive operations and "annihilating tens of thousands of Germans" on the Bryansk, western Kalinin and northwestern fronts.

The Russian announcement was made a day after disclosure of joint conversations between Premier Josef Stalin of Russia and Britain's Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, and at a time when the official press urged both Britain and the United States to show their "power and energy" to aid Russia.

Because of this agitation for the Allies to open a "second front" in western Europe, the announcement was considered significant, especially passages dealing with the reported transfer of 22 Nazi divisions from western Europe.

The announcement made no effort to estimate the number of Nazi divisions still in France and the other coastal countries.

Educating Japanese

B.C. Refuses to Spend $345,026; Up to Dominion

Responsibility for educating between 4,500 and 5,500 Japanese grade and high school students removed from protected areas to British Columbia's interior, rests with the B.C. Security Commission and the Dominion Government, Hon. H. G. Perry, Minister of Education, said today.

That position had been established by the provincial cabinet, Mr. Perry said. Minimum costs of such an undertaking this year would run to $345,026 on the basis of figures supplied him by the commission. That would be exclusive of text books and other incidentals and would cover only provision of buildings and teachers' salaries.

A representative of the security commission told Mr. Perry the costs of supplying buildings would run to $231,126, to which would be added teachers' salaries of $113,900 annually. A total of 13 white teachers would be required as well as 133 Japanese teachers or coaches.

Mr. Perry has notified the commission that the provincial government will contribute no money to the cost of the Japanese education and will not require school boards in the districts where the children are now domiciled to permit them to attend their schools.

The commission in a brief on the question said in part the responsibility rested on the provincial government to a very large extent.

Mr. Perry's reply to the commission in part is as follows: "It has been noted that in no part of your communications is there any commitment by your commission as to any financial or other responsibility on the part of your commission or the federal government. This is a remarkable omission in view of our conversation in which you intimated to me that you were responsible for the education of the Japanese and sought our co-operation in regard to methods and forms of instruction both by teachers and by correspondence."

THRUST PROBLEM ON B.C.

"It appears that you are attempting now to thrust upon this provincial department of education the responsibility of educating Japanese children who were arbitrarily taken by your commission (presumably in the national interest) from their regular places of domicile where the province and school districts were providing educational facilities."

"When the Japanese children were at their homes on the coast, there was ample school accommodation for them in their respective districts."

"They have been removed to other areas by the Dominion government through the medium of the British Columbia Security Commission."

"You are now proposing that the local school districts and the educational department of British Columbia incur a capital expenditure of $231,126 and an annual expenditure of $113,900 a total of $345,026; provide 13 white supervisors and teachers, and 133 Japanese teachers or coaches, and supply all school books free in addition."

UP TO DOMINION

"It is the opinion of this department and of the provincial government that the education and care of the Japanese children moved from their previous domicile, on the orders or advice of your commission, and the total cost of whatever education privileges are provided, are the responsibility of your commission or of the Dominion government."

"I wish, therefore, to inform you that we can not undertake to finance the education of the Japanese children, nor to contribute to the cost of their education."

"Moreover, boards of school trustees in districts where there are now Japanese children will not be required to permit the children to attend existing public schools; nor to provide separate school accommodation for them."

To Order Call-up

Mitchell to Join War Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell, whose responsibilities in the war effort have been and are being increased, is to be added to the war committee of the cabinet, it was learned today on good authority.

Announcement of this move may be included in the address Prime Minister Mackenzie King will give tonight.

Mr. Mitchell is the minister responsible for administration of national selective service and is to have jurisdiction over the call-up for compulsory military service now exercised by war services Minister Thorson.

Announcement is expected shortly, possibly in Mr. King's speech tonight, of the transfer of the call-up machinery to Mr. Mitchell's department.

JOIN LABOR DEPARTMENT

When this move has been made it is possible that Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFlèche, associated deputy minister of national war services, and his immediate staff will become part of the labor department.

Mr. Justice T. M. Davie, the other associate deputy minister, in Mr. Thorson's department, probably would carry on the war services office alone under the altered conditions.

Members of the war committee include the Prime Minister, Jus-

Radio Address at 6 Tonight

Mr. King to Discuss Manpower Policies

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of the policies the government proposes to adopt to make two and two equal five as far as manpower is concerned may be disclosed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King when he speaks on the radio tonight.

It is known important decisions relating to the further mobilization of manpower for essential war industry, as well as for the armed forces, have been under consideration for some time.

Mr. King's half-hour speech over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, starting at 6 p.m., P.D.T., is expected to reveal some of these decisions and leave the announcement of others to officials specially charged with the work of procuring men to meet increasing needs. The Prime Minister probably will give the reasons why the new steps are to be taken.

MORE JOBS THAN MEN

Briefly, the situation is that there are more jobs to be filled than there are men to fill them. In the view of informed circles something is to be done to take men out of less essential jobs and put them into more essential.

The recruiting policies of the armed forces may be coordinated to a greater degree with

R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Raid U-Boat Base

LONDON (CP)—Flensburg, the Nazi submarine and ship-building centre almost at the Danish border, was the chief target of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. bombers Tuesday night, their second night in a row over northern Germany, the Air Ministry announced today.

A communique said four of the raiders were missing.

The weight of the attack was not disclosed immediately. Aircraft of one Canadian squadron participated.

A few German bombers were over England during the night. The Ministry of Home Security said bombs dropped in East Anglia caused some damage and slight casualties.

Berlin broadcasts said Germany also was attacked from the east, where Russian planes were said to have bombed parts of east and west Prussia.

They named Norwich as a target of German raiders over England during the night.

One enemy raider was downed off the English east coast this morning.

Canadian crews said on their return that many fires were started at Flensburg by high explosive and incendiary bombs. The squadron was led personally by Wing-Comdr. John Twigg of Ottawa for the second successive night and all the aircraft returned safely and undamaged. Flying conditions were excellent, but visibility was impaired by haze.

Algoma Workers Vote for Strike

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Algoma Steel Corporation workers voted 3,148 to 22 in favor of a strike to enforce their demands for an increase in basic wage rates from 46½ cents an hour to 55 cents an hour, it was announced today. Five ballots were spoiled.

William Mahoney, secretary of the union, announced before result of the ballot had been made known that whatever the result of the vote, a strike would be called only "as a last resort."

Decision to take the strike vote was made Monday at a mass meeting after workers heard the Ontario regional war board had refused to approve the increase in the basic wage rate.

New Middle East Commander

Gen. Alexander's Motto, 'Attack During Defensive'

By ROSS MUNRO

LONDON (CP)—Circumstances forced Lt.-Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, new commander-in-chief in the Middle East, to fight defensive actions when commanding British troops in Flanders and in Burma in this war, yet he is one of the army's leading advocates of attack tactics.

He was the first sponsor of battle drill which revolutionized infantry training in the British and Canadian armies. His motto is "attack, attack and attack again even when you are on the defensive." This has become a byword among his troops.

With this reputation it is little wonder Gen. Alexander has been chosen to succeed Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck in the Middle East.

ONLY 50

He is young as generals go—only 50—which means a lot in these days of youthful officers.

Last March he was suddenly taken from his post as commander of Britain's vital southern command and shot out to Burma as commander of the forces there. The Japanese were pouring through the steaming jungles and he knew he couldn't save Burma. Yet he led a couple of British regiments, which packed enough fighting spirit for a couple of divisions against the Japs and contested every foot of ground from Rangoon to Mandalay and beyond in a retreat that was an epic of English courage.

Finally, the enemy hordes slowed down on the Indian frontier. Gen. Alexander had lost battles, but his resistance forced the Japanese to divert whole divisions from their drive towards Australia and throw them into the Burma campaign.

STYMIED INDIA ATTACK

Working with Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, United Nations commander in the Far East, and with Gen. Chiang Kai-shek he fought battles he knew could only end in defeat—playing for time. Gen. Alexander prevented an immediate Japanese attack into India by his prolonged defence of Burma.

From the start of the war, he's had great responsibilities in the field.

It was Gen. Alexander who took the 1st British Division to France as the vanguard of the British expeditionary force in the fall of 1939. Later he commanded the 1st British Corps there.

During the Dunkerque operation, it fell to him to organize the final defence and evacuation. Lord Gort, commander-in-chief of the B.E.F., handed over the command to Gen. Alexander on May 31, 1940.

LAST FROM DUNKERQUE

Gen. Alexander got the B.E.F. out and was the last man to leave the Dunkerque beaches.

Gen. Alexander was given the southern command. His predecessors in this post were Gen. Wavell, Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the Imperial staff, and Gen. Auchinleck.

Soon, this command was developing all sorts of new tactics and training programs. Battle drill was an outstanding feature and command training was a branch of this. Gen. Alexander carried out large-scale experiments in co-operation with the Royal Air Force, particularly in close support of troops by bombers and fighters. This was reflected in manoeuvres in the command.

Last fall, the general led the forces of southern command and the Canadian corps against the armies of eastern command in the greatest mock battle in British history. For 10 days, the manoeuvre surged through central and eastern England and the southern armies won hands down. He is a great believer in the doctrine of infiltration and taught officers to act quickly in taking advantage of gaps in the enemy's lines. "We should not be content to sit behind concrete fortifications," he has said. "We should take every chance of hitting back, especially where the enemy is least expecting us."

Gallup Poll on Quebec

Link With Britain Big Factor In Opposite Attitudes to War

(Editor's note: Last week the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion showed how French and English-Canadians viewed Canada and each other. Today, the broader question of French-Canadian and English-Canadian attitudes towards the war, and the British commonwealth is discussed. This is the second in a series of three articles.)

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

It is impossible to divorce the attitude of French-Canadians towards the war from their conception of the British commonwealth of nations. The one is welded into the other. In a reverse sense, the same is true, of course, of English-Canadians.

But the blunt fact is that the majority of French-Canadians do not believe Canada would be fighting this war if she were not a member of the British commonwealth. In this belief lies probably the most fundamental difference between English and French-Canadian thought. Compare the two tables below, which shows the answers of both groups to the admittedly hypothetical question:

"Do you think Canada would be fighting in this war if she were completely independent and not a part of the British Empire?"

English-Canadian	French-Canadian
Yes, would be fighting	81
No, would not be fighting	14
Undecided	5

Many of those who said Canada would not be fighting if she were detached from the British Empire (and this refers to both columns) were, of course, heartily in accord with Canada's action in declaring war, but merely took the attitude that Canada was at war because she was British, and subscribed to the British or democratic way of life. Thus the figures above cannot be taken as a measurement of the degree of support which the war has. Compared with each other, they do, however, indicate a wide divergence of opinion as to the character of the British commonwealth.

Further evidence of the fact that the empire does not mean, to the average French-Canadian, what it means to the average English-Canadian—a union of free and independent nations under a common flag and with a common King—is supplied by the replies received to this question:

English-Canadian	French-Canadian
Do you think of Canada as an independent country or as still dependent on Great Britain?
Independent	53
Dependent	42
Uncertain	5

As an indication of how the Statute of Westminster (which became effective in 1931, and which established complete legislative equality of the Canadian Parliament with that of Great Britain) is interpreted, the above figures are revealing.

On the plus side, however, is the fact (and this may surprise some observers) that the greatest number of French-Canadians appear to believe that Canada entered the war of her own free will and desire. Although, as shown above, the majority feel that Canada would not be in the war if she were not a member of the British commonwealth. This was shown by the answers received when the Gallup interviewers asked their respondents to finish this sentence:

"Canada is fighting this war because..."

Of the replies received from French-Canadians, the greatest number indicated some voluntary reason, such as: "She wants to help Britain," or "She is defending her rights," or "To prevent Germany from dominating us." A lesser number finished the sentence in a manner which indicated compulsion from any source outside the will of the Canadian people themselves.

Nor are the French-Canadians, traditional church lovers, misled as to the treatment of the church in Nazi-occupied countries. They were asked if, from what they had heard or read they believed that the Roman Catholic Church was oppressed in such countries and its leaders persecuted, or whether they believed that the Nazis have not bothered much with the church in conquered countries. The majority believed the church was being persecuted in such countries.

AXIS AND QUEBEC

Also indicative of the fact that Jean Canuck, like Jack Canuck, is fully alive to the significance of the Nazi menace, is the answer received in French-Canada to this question:

"If Germany and Japan should win the war, do you believe that life in Quebec would be very different from what it is now?"

"Yes" replied nearly seven of every 10 French-speaking Canadians.

Because of their peculiar significance to French-Canada, these questions were asked only of French-Canadians in Quebec by interviewers who, of course, were

French-Canadian residents of the areas in which the interviewing was done.

Again, as previously reported, Jean Canuck, if she had to decide Germany's fate today, would be every bit as stern with that country as would Jack Canuck, although, the survey indicates, there is a slightly greater tendency towards favoring rehabilitating Germany than there is among English-Canadians.

As might be expected, Jean Canuck does not think as highly of the British war effort as does his English-speaking compatriot. Here was put to the question was put to both groups:

"Do you think that Canada (U.S.A., Britain) is doing all that she can to win the war?"

Each of the three countries was used as a separate question. French-Canadians placed Canada's war effort at the top of the list, United States next, and Britain's third. English-Canadians, on the other hand, placed Britain's war effort at the top of the list, United States second, and Canada's third.

Japs in Trouble In Aleutians

By WILLIAM WORDEN

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—

The fact that American bomber pilots did not encounter land-based aerial opposition in their raids on Kiska and other Japanese-held islands of the outer Aleutians led to belief today the enemy has been unable to establish land fields in those islands.

An officer of the U.S. army air force said the Japanese were using single-float seaplane fighters based neither on carriers nor on land, but this apparently was the total extent of their air defense.

Reasons for the enemy's failure to create usable runways either on the Kiska beaches or in the rocky uplands are in doubt here, inasmuch as it is known the attempt has been made.

Army sources, however, believe the Japanese were surprised by the strength of United States bombing in the face of long distances, fogs, high winds and hazardous flying conditions.

The difficulties of such flights apparently are too much for seaplanes. Japanese bombers, since no effort has been made since early June to attack American bases in the Aleutians.

American bombing planes, on the other hand, have been flying almost daily to drop tons of explosives on the Japanese as they labored to blast living quarters, ground defenses and runways from the Kiska terrain.

Some persons familiar with the Aleutians' peculiar geological formations believe the usually efficient Japs may have run into an unexpected snag.

These experts say the Kiska rock is extremely hard and glass-like and may have proved too much for excavating efforts, forcing the runway builders to fill in depressions in their projected airfields rather than knocking off the hums. This would be a long and laborious process.

Miners at Work Awaiting Probe

CUMBERLAND, B.C. (CP)—

Miners employed at two Cumberland mines of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited, Tuesday voted to return to work with the graveyard shift, pending hearing of their wage demands by the National War Labor Board.

Action of the 700 miners here Tuesday night followed a similar vote earlier in the day by 600 miners in Nanaimo mines of Canadian Collieries.

The Cumberland miners decided to go back to work at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, while those in Nanaimo will return today.

Both meetings decided on the back-to-work move pending a conference at Ottawa next week between the N.W.L.B. and district officials of the United Mine Workers to which the men belong.

A meeting will be held here next Sunday to discuss results of the Ottawa conference.

The 1,300 miners staged what they called a "holiday" to back up their demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

War Board Order On Funerals Denied

VANCOUVER—A report in the Vancouver Daily Province that a plan for severe curtailment of funeral service had been submitted to the undertakers in the interests of gasoline and rubber conservation is denied by Charles E. Atchison, president of the B.C. Funeral Directors and Embalmers' Association.

Mr. Atchison says that only two suggestions have been made. These are:

1. Where the designated funeral plot is more than 25 miles from the municipality where the death has occurred, the funeral director in the municipality nearest the plot should attend to the burial.

2. Ministers assisting in the services should be asked to come where possible to the funeral by street car or in their own conveyances. The normal practice is for the funeral director to send a car for the clergyman.

A letter to the undertakers' association from the department of administrative services of the War-time Prices and Trade Board says: "There was no suggestion that a motorist driving his own car could not use that car for taking himself and his friends to a funeral. Any suggestion to the contrary would be ridiculous."

"There was a suggestion that a limitation be placed upon the number of cars that the undertaker himself should provide for any funeral procession."

"No action has been taken as yet in connection with any of the suggestions that have been made."

Homing pigeons carried by R.A.F. planes are released with a message giving the plane's exact position when pilots are forced down on the sea.

Letters to Editor

Correspondents are reminded to use one side of the paper only, to write legibly, and to keep their communications within a reasonable length. A short letter, with a point convincingly emphasized, has a better chance of publication than one with labored platitudes.

SAANICH WATER

Mr. Gordon's letter of August 14 in your paper, complaining of the shortage of water supplied by the Saanich municipality, did not come as a surprise to those living in the district. It would appear that the method of apportioning to each district this vital domestic necessity up to that time had been unworkable and certainly unfair.

If one travels through this beautiful district it is noticeable that water is being applied on certain portions of land "ad lib," undoubtedly at the expense of others less fortunate. This condition should not exist. During the latter end of July and the beginning of August my residence was without water from 9.45 p.m. and onwards through the night, plus frequent stoppages at odd times during the day.

It is obvious that for the future of this neighborhood, which is said to be extending rapidly, that this water question should be met and, we hope, equitably solved.

PROGRESS IN THE U.S.S.R.

When I read Kathleen Ashe's letter of criticism regarding Mr. Sanders' contributions to your columns, my first thought was the truth of the old saying: "Some people will jump in and gallop around where angels fear to tread," and in the case of Kathleen Ashe I believe this to be literally true.

Kathleen Ashe emphatically disputes Mr. Sanders' "irrefutable authority." This is really laughable; but it may be that she is more to be pitied than laughed at. Were she even a mediocre student of history, she would know that the aborigines used shells as a means of exchange; and those shells represented nothing more than the labor required to gather them. Kathleen Ashe must want us to return to the days of trade and barter. Well, I fear that she will experience considerable difficulty in inducing the modern housewife to tote a bag of potatoes to the corner grocery to exchange for some butter and eggs.

I would like to advise Kathleen Ashe to change her "Russian authorities." Why not change to Dyson Carter, a Canadian, who has received the plaudits and eulogy of many countries for his realism and the gripping intensity of his literary and other work. He has recently put before the people of this North American continent an almost complete account of the progress made in the U.S.S.R. within the past decade or so; an account which, I feel sure, should prove an excellent antidote for "swollen heads."

VANCOUVER (CP)—The

Police Chief Donald MacKay said 50 men already had been taken from the force, and that another 137 would be called up within a month.

"They are getting at the very heart of our force," Mayor J. W. Cornett said. "It is not fair. These men are, and will be, essential in this city, where we may expect increased trouble, owing to the influx of war industries and other causes."

Second Front Curtain-Raiser

ALTHOUGH FIGHTING IS STILL PRO-ceeding in the Dieppe region as we write, and the whole scene may have changed completely before this is read, it would seem to be well for all of us to note carefully the official British statement that this latest commando venture is not an attempt to establish a second front on the Nazi-occupied European coastline. Rather must it be considered as a fact-finding mission to discover just how strong the enemy's defences are, and the type of offensive manoeuvre that will be required if the real thing at some later date is to be a success. What the peoples of the United Nations already have been permitted to learn, however, is that the armies of the democratic coalition stationed in the British Isles are ready for anything which may be demanded of them. The psychological effect alone should be of tremendous value; and, conversely, it may deal German morale a substantial blow as Hitler's regimented dupes contemplate another winter of war.

Canadians are naturally feeling especially proud today because the men from this Dominion predominated in the well-mixed force which crossed the Channel in the early hours of this morning. The presence of United States "ranger" troops, a detachment of the Fighting French, and Britain's own commando men, gave the expedition its perfect United Nations flavor. Not only does this provide refreshing proof—particularly for enemy consumption—of complete and harmonious resolve; it reassures the people of all the Allied countries that the great fighting machine which has been laboriously built up since the Battle of Britain in the face of untold difficulties is now a unified striking force with the fruits of an important success emblazoned on its escutcheon. And the flying men of Britain have provided the aerial "umbrella" without which such a venture would have been impossible—almost 24 months to the day since they brought down 144 Nazi planes in one of the biggest daily bags of that memorable period in the summer of 1940.

That this "raid" outclasses anything previously attempted on the Nazi-occupied coastline is borne out by the fact that the central force landed with tanks. The left and right wing detachments evidently succeeded in accomplishing their mission, one group having arrived back at its British base "in gay spirits" this afternoon. It is the larger and more heavily-equipped body which has remained behind and, as already mentioned, is still battling with the enemy. But in view of the specific official announcement to the French people that this action must on no account be regarded as an invasion in the generally-accepted sense of the term, it would be foolish to expect startling results from the continued operations on the "central sector" of the Dieppe area. This unit's superior mechanical power obviously was intended to assist it to stay in the territory long enough to obtain the maximum amount of information. Not until the fruits of its mission are revealed, however, shall we get the answer to any of our speculation.

It should nevertheless not be too much to assume that this latest and largest commando raid will cause the Nazi high command a good deal of concern. To suggest that it will relieve the enemy's pressure on our gallant Russian allies is to indulge in wishful thinking. But its immediate effect may be measured in terms of greater accumulations of Nazi strength on those parts of the continental European coastline likely to be selected for further fact-finding missions by the United Nations. And in this connection, incidentally, an acceleration of aerial visits to the Reich's transportation centres no doubt will be high up on the offensive agenda in the coming days. With the R.A.F. and American squadrons on a 24-hour basis, Goering's Luftwaffe will have its work cut out to prevent on the continent what Britain's flying men prevented on the shores of Britain two summers ago. Meanwhile, then, our side is attacking. That is good.

Brazil Near Decision?

WHEN BRAZIL BROKE OFF DIPLO-matic relations with the Axis last January, the majority of her 47,000,000 people were heartily in accord with the government's policy; and they demonstrated their support of it in the unmistakable Brazilian fashion. From time to time since then, pro-totalitarian elements in the country have witnessed further evidences of popular sentiment. Recent sinkings of the Republic's ships by German submarines have merely added enthusiasm to the public clamor for a declaration of war.

Brazil's army, navy and air force may not be imposing in themselves; the country's entrance into the war would have a greater psychological than a material effect. The peacetime strength of the army is approximately 100,000 officers and men, aviation comprising three air regiments, while her two battlefleets are of pre-World War vintage, as are her two protected cruisers. Latest available figures show several destroyers, torpedo boats, and half a dozen submarines; but no doubt many additions have been made in the last three years. Her greatest contribution to the United Nations has been, of course, her cooperation with the United States in the matter of accommodation in the use of air fields and bases. These are important because the "bulge" of Brazil is approximately 1,600 flying miles from French Dakar.

Should Brazil decide to take the final plunge and join the democratic coalition as a belligerent, her example, as the most important of the Latin American republics from the standpoints of economics and influence by population, might swing hesitant Chile into line. The latter's President is already either in Washington or on his way at the head of an important mission. With the governments at Rio de Janeiro and Santiago at war with the Axis, cause for a complete re-examination of her position of hemispheric isolation might present itself to Argentina.

Alexander for Auchinleck

WHAT IS BEHIND THE REPLACEMENT of General Sir Claude Auchinleck by General Sir Harold Alexander is naturally not related in the announcement of the change. It is highly probable that the man who took personal charge of the Egyptian campaign after the fall of Tobruk has been selected for some other post, as in the case, it will be recalled, of General Sir Archibald Wavell. Then again, of course, Mr. Churchill may have discovered something on his recent visit to Cairo which may have influenced the decision just announced. The new commander, incidentally, was the "last man out of Dunkerque," the gallant officer who conducted the brilliant retreat from the Japanese through the jungles of Burma; and he goes to his new task with an enviable reputation.

The temperature in the desert is beginning to go down and conditions for fighting may be expected to improve in the immediate future. While the layman need not discuss something of which he knows little, the fact remains that the enemy west of El Alamein is commanded by one of the most daring and most resourceful generals in the German army—a soldier who knows that unless the Axis powers can score a decisive victory in that area soon, the whole course of the war in the Near and Middle East will go badly against them. Perhaps a change in the British direction of operations is part and parcel of the psychology behind the offensives in the Solomons, in China, on the central and northern sections of the Russian front, and last, but by no means least, the commando raid now in progress on the French coast. General Alexander may get tough before Rommel does.

What Vichy Did for Tokyo

EXACTLY ONE YEAR AGO TODAY MR. Koh Ishii, spokesman for the Japanese cabinet's Information Bureau, announced to the world that his country could not "remain indifferent" to the shipment of munitions from the United States to Russia through Vladivostok. Several Japanese newspapers published editorials echoing similar sentiments. One explained that even if the British-American supplies failed actually to reach the Soviet Union, "the fact cannot be overlooked" that such aid, at least, "would have the effect of reinforcing" Stalin's troops in the Far East. There were speculations at the time as to what the men of Tokyo proposed to do about it, particularly whether a test of the non-aggression pact signed in Moscow four months earlier was in the offing. Pearl Harbor put an end to all surmise about Japanese intentions. In these columns on August 19, 1941, however, we added the following to our comments on Mr. Ishii's warning:

"The present tension between the Japanese government and the Anglo-American governments has been produced by Nippon's continued activity in the whole Pacific area. Emperor Hirohito's advisers have had much to say in recent months about their 'co-prosperity' program for Asia and, so far, they seem to have done well for their country by connivance and assistance of the Traitors of Vichy—into a base for further operations against neighboring lands in which the English-speaking nations and the Netherlands have a direct interest."

It was about the time the foregoing was written that most of the experts began to tell us that we need have no fear of the Japanese. And most of us believed them; none of us thought for one moment that the men of Nippon would care to take on the United States, the British Empire, the Netherlands East Indies, while she had all she could handle in China. But the reference to the Traitors of Vichy—knowing, as we do now, that Herr Laval already has proclaimed his desire for a German victory—reminds us at this stage that the still useful French fleet and certain bases in French north Africa might add more point and meaning to the arch-traitor's wish if they were turned over to his master in Berlin. But perhaps it is permitted to hope and expect that the United Nations' strategy is so designed as to anticipate such a contingency as this would produce.

VALUABLE PROPERTY

THERE is a good deal of local interest, they tell me, in the movie actors who are making a film here. People go to great efforts to see Mr. Paul Muni and the other actors and actresses who are playing in the picture, for these ladies and gentlemen appear to live romantic and exciting lives forever closed to us, the ordinary run of folk.

The studios who own the players and have invested huge sums in them should be more careful of their property. They should not permit it to circulate among the public lest the fine gloss wear off; for presently, if this kind of thing goes on, if actors and actresses are allowed to mix too much with us, they will not appear romantic any more and their value at the box office is certain to decline.

Personally, I have seen Mr. Muni in many excellent movies. I have seen him on the stage, so close from the front row that I could detect the grease paint, but I have never seen him except when he was separated from me by a vast, invisible gulf, by the barrier of unreality. He was in one world and I was in another and we could never meet. I prefer to leave it so. I would not wish to meet Mr. Muni on the streets of Victoria because I appreciate him as a great artist too much. I would not wish to destroy that beautiful illusion, that delicate dream which I have about him. To me he has been successively a French journalist, a great scientist, a starving Chinese, a fighter in the Spanish civil war and many other things. I would not like to discover that he was only a man.

DREAD DISCOVERY

BUT BY EXPOSING HIM to the public gaze here the movie people are undoubtedly allowing many citizens to discover that he is only a man. They may even discover that there is no real glamor and adventure on the stage at all, that the workers there are just as hard-working and just as bored as we are. It may be a good thing for romantic girls to know this. It may prevent them from hitch-hiking to Hollywood and starving there at the entrance to the movie studios, but it is a bad thing for the rest of us to know. There is so little in life now that is not drab and monotonous that we should maintain as well as we can the beautiful illusion of the screen.

I prefer myself to believe that men like Mr. Muni live a kind of exotic and fantastic life such as I can never aspire to. I prefer to think that great actors like him are never concerned with the small affairs that vex ordinary people, that they are not subject to our financial worries, diseases, boredom and petty annoyance.

I prefer to think of them living on strange foods like the gods, and, like Keats, drinking divine liquors long cooled in the deep-delved earth with beaded bubbles winking at the brim. And I certainly insist on them conducting love affairs on the grand scale, on the level of Venus and Adonis, with passions far beyond our apprehension.

SHATTERED DREAM

WHEN MOVIE ACTORS are allowed out of their gilded cages, when they walk on the streets, when they appear at garden parties, when they talk to yokels in Saanich, especially when beautiful actresses allow newspaper reporters to see them make up their faces and thus destroy the ultimate illusion of beauty then, I say, the dream world is shattered for us.

For myself, I am keeping clear of the town these days altogether lest I discover Mr. Muni looking fixedly into a store window at a display of fishing tackle or an exhibit of garden tools; or worse, that I find him eating a large beefsteak when I had supposed that he dined on nectar and golden apples and the perfumed milk of the lotus. I shall never go into a soda fountain lest I discover an actress whom I have worshipped from afar sipping an ice cream soda when I had supposed that she lived on moonbeams and the heavy scent of roses.

For I have had one experience of this kind which unnerved me for quite a spell. I shall name no names, but not long ago one of the reigning queens of the movies came to Ottawa and the page boy rushed into our workroom to say that she had just appeared in the gallery of the House of Commons and practically stepped the work of legislation. Naturally, though I was in the middle of a dispatch to certain newspapers, which had only two minutes before press time, I dropped everything, put on my coat and rushed down the hall.

It was a terrible mistake. When I saw the gorgeous creature of the films, when I beheld her flaming mass of red hair, when I had recovered from my first surprise I realized that she was a very homely woman of middle age. I could recognize her but that was all; and now, when I see her on the screen the whole evening is ruined, for I know I am being deceived. I know what is under the make-up.

So I have resolved never to cross the invisible line of reality, never to see the actor or actress in the flesh, always to treasure them in imagination and hug to my heart the last remaining illusion left. So farewell, Mr. Muni. Leave me to my dream-world.

Spend all of your time chasing rainbows and you'll run into a storm.

Russia's Desperate Crisis

From Christian Science Monitor

The Russian government is officially presenting to the President and to the United States high command the gravest view of the peril in which the whole Soviet war effort now stands, as the Nazi invasion continued to roll across the Caucasus.

Despite the quoted optimism from Ambassador William H. Standley in Moscow, the U.S.S.R. is informing the United States and Great Britain that only the early opening of a second land offensive in force can avert a calamity on the eastern front, it can be stated authoritatively.

The Russians categorically affirm that the projected Anglo-American air blitz on Germany will make no appreciable difference whatsoever on the weight and power of the Nazi eastern attack.

They declare that invasion of western Europe alone will divert sufficient German striking force to save the situation.

They are impressing it upon those who must decide what the United States can and must do that it is wishful dreaming to believe that the Red army has only to retreat into the vastness of Russia to preserve its resistance; they point out that Russia is not only losing vast areas of land but is losing the vital minerals and ores and industrial plants which these areas contain.

They frankly confess that Red army morale is being called upon to undergo a strain the end of which cannot be foreseen and that there is great public disillusionment among the whole Russian people because of the paucity of United Nations assistance. The informed few at Washington do not question the justification for this feeling. The Office of War Information communique of Aug. 8 said that "we have not given them—our Allies—as much help as we had led them to expect."

The trend of the fighting in the North Caucasian battle areas in which German tanks forces have swamped Russian detachments for continued gains supports, rather than detracts, from the seriousness of the position which is being communicated to military headquarters here.

To dispatches from Moscow reporting that Ambassador Standley has heard no complaints by Soviet authorities regarding the delay in opening a second front, it can only be said that the Soviet authorities must be registering their views in Washington and London instead of Moscow, where they trust they will carry the greatest weight and produce the fastest response.

The exact picture of the present fighting and future prospects in Russia can be put in these words from a high army source—a picture which reflects the estimate which the Russian officials have placed before the Anglo-American combined command:

"Soviet Russia, still desperately requiring the establishment of the projected second front now, is arguing that such action is essential to enable her to expel the German armies that are marching toward the Caucasian oil fields, and no less essential for the security of Great Britain and the United States and victory for the United Nations..."

The Russian information is that there are about 1 to 12 German divisions in western Europe and 300 German divisions on the eastern front. They ask how the United States and Britain expect later successfully to invade against possible full German

Health Menus

A nationwide program in nutritional education sponsored by the Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, and appearing in numerous newspapers from coast to coast, has won popularity in hundreds of communities across the Dominion. Educational material, provided by the league and prepared by leading nutritionists is being used in schools and institutions for classes in the basic principles of nutrition. These classes originally held in Toronto and subsequently throughout the Dominion in response to popular demand, train housewives in securing adequate nourishment at minimum costs.

Currently, newspapers have published the exact items of diet needed to gain vitamin requirements, and the Health League's menu for a week of economical, balanced meals. This menu was prepared by the Household Science Alumnae Association of the University of Toronto, and carefully tested for adequacy. In con-

MRS. WIGGS GIVES ADVICE!

"This constant overtime" I grumbled to Mrs. Wiggs, "will knock me flat—and I always thought I could take it!" "If I may make so bold, Miss," said she, "it's how you feel that counts, these days. Suppose, now, you try Post's Bran Flakes, the delicious cereal with three benefits."

Next day I spoke to our grocer's wife. "By all means," she said, "try Post's Bran Flakes. They help you to avoid constipation due to lack of bulk. They're wholesome and nourishing and delicious to eat. And they provide useful quantities of the iron and phosphorus we all need."

Chemists Report Valuable Finds

DENVER—Medical aid to war-time America may result from research work reported at the first session of the meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association held here today.

Mercury in combination with saccharin, the sweetening agent, was prepared by Harry J. Pratt, Philadelphia, and J. Howard Graham, Glenside, Pa., and found to have superior qualities as a germicide.

New germ-killing substances were also reported by Dr. Milton Wruble, who combined silver compounds, long used in diseases of the ear, throat, and urinary passages, with the new sulfa drugs. Colloidal solutions of the creamy-white powder, silver sulfathiazole, were especially investigated and found to be efficient as well as less irritating to the eye and other delicate membranes, than many products now on the market.

A report from Oregon revealed that ergot, the valuable drug used in child-birth and to prevent hemorrhage following delivery, was collected there and found to have two to four times the potency of the official standard.

Discussion among the pharmacists gathered here from every state in the nation, indicates that research is going on in many parts of the country on this drug, which is a rye smut. Imports from Spain and Russia are practically non-existent and an acute shortage has been developing. One shipment that did make the hazardous journey was reported to be below the standard for these medicines in America.

U.S. Plant Industry Office, National Research Council, and the Committee on Botany and Pharmacognosy have, therefore, all requested investigation of domestic sources of ergot.

In the vitamin field, the application of a color method to find the amount of vitamin B1 (thiamin) in pharmaceutical preparations was reported by Ernst R. Kirch of Chicago, and Olaf Bergheim. The vitamin is reacted with a dye-like chemical and the color extracted from an alcohol. By determining the intensity of the color produced, the pharmaceutical chemist can calculate the amount of vitamin present.

To Tip Canada On Edge To Raise Next War Loan

Canada's next drive for $2,000,000,000 in war savings is not so much a question of raising money as of putting weapons in the hands of Canadians and fighting men of other free nations so they can reach the enemy and achieve victory, Dr. M. M. MacOdrum of the National War Finance Committee, Ottawa, told war savings workers in the Empress Hotel Tuesday.

"We must see the flow is continuous and adequate to supply the boys with their needs. If we hold back, we are not worthy of winning," he declared.

Dr. MacOdrum expressed confidence Canada would meet its objective when Canadians understood the call that was being made to them. It was the duty of the war savings workers to see the public understood.

It would not be easy to raise the sum, he admitted. Canada, he said, would have to be tipped or its edge to get $2,000,000,000.

"We're going to be proud of the job when it's done. Why not get in at the beginning of it?" he asked.

NEW ACHIEVEMENTS NEEDED

New achievements were needed, Dr. MacOdrum said. The war had taken a turn for the worse since last February. The current of defeat had been continually against the Free Nations. There was no prospect of immediate victory, but eventual victory was certain. To achieve it, however, meant a complete change in Canada's way of life. The old, easy-going way of living was gone.

"Until we get as tough as our enemy we'd better not be too confident," he said. He hoped Canada would not have to resort to the ruthlessness and cruelty of the Axis, but, he added, "we have to use methods of which we never dreamed."

Speaking directly to Victoria workers, he said:

"You've done your part in the past and I'm confident you will be willing to accept the increasingly arduous duties to come."

His job, he said, was to sell Canada to Canadians. A great many people were unaware of the blessing which was theirs simply in living in this country.

Too many, he said, had let slip the spiritual values which represented the ideals for which Britain was fighting, the ideals which made the Empire great.

NOT FIGHTING FOR GOLD

Britishers, including Canadians, were willing to die for truth, fair play and right, not for gold, the Bank of England, the railroads and material assets.

"Men," he said, "don't die except for the things which mean something to them." He cited the example of the Chinese and the Russians, saying "they are dying for something in which they believe."

Canada's sons should not die except for those ideals in which they believed, he said.

He called for re-establishment of the faith in those values which had made Canada, for the fibre which had enabled the pioneer to hew his home from the wilderness.

"Canada," he said, "is moving to the time when it will know the meaning of hardship. So what? The pioneers sustained hardships to carve out homes for themselves in a country which justified those hardships."

Sacrifice, Dr. MacOdrum said, was too strong a word to apply to the inconveniences which would follow full support of the war through savings. Sacrifice was a word to be used for those men who went to battle in planes, who fought in tanks, for women who gave their sons and their homes.

He spoke briefly of the payroll savings plan, saying it needed complete co-operation both from employers and employees.

POSTWAR NEST EGG

The outcome of the present conflict, he remarked, was not just a matter of military victory. It would be attended by untold sorrow and misery if the financial structure "blew up in our face." That fact increased the importance of war savings as an investment, a system of putting aside funds to carry the individual through the trying postwar period.

The speaker was introduced by Denis Hagar, island organizer for the war finance committee, and thanked for his remarks by G. H. Walton.

J. W. Spencer, chairman of the Vancouver Island division, National War Finance Committee, presided.

Claims Russia Will Have Say in Peace

"The voice of Josef Stalin, and his powerful influence will be the loudest and the strongest after this war when countries get together in making peace terms," said Rev. W. G. Wilson, when he addressed the Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon. He spoke on "Some Things We Can Learn from Russia."

Remarking on the gallant stand of the Russians in their country's defence, the Speaker said the eyes of the world are focused on this great country.

"She is fighting for her life, with an intermediate loss of materials and life . . . she is also fighting for us," Mr. Wilson stated.

"Let us hope and pray that the recent meeting of Churchill and Stalin will lead to added efforts to assist Russia in her fight against the common scourge of mankind," he said.

CORRUPT GOVERNMENT

Speaking of the world's disagreement with Russia's government, Rev. Wilson blamed this on the let-down the Russians gave the Allies in the first Great War. "The army then was not to blame," he stated, "it was run by a corrupt government."

He told of nearly 400 volumes in an Edmonton library, each dealing with the social set-up of Russia, and asserted that nearly 100 per cent of these books contained some brand of prejudice within their pages.

"The revolution changed this type of corrupt government in Russia," Mr. Wilson said, "and after it came one of the most socialistic and democratic institutions that the world has ever seen."

Russia, knowing that the rest of the world was against her, started building up herself . . . and in the short space of 25 years she has become the world's leading industrial country, and is practicing Christian ideals more so than we, according to the speaker.

GREAT LESSON

One of the greatest lessons we might learn from the Russian people, according to Rev. Mr. Wilson, is the matter of abolition of racial discrimination. He related an instance which happened in Russia recently where two Americans made objection to the presence of a negro in the same dining-room they were in. The Russian government sentenced these two men to two years in prison, but arrangements were made with the U.S. and finally the two objecting Americans were deported from the country for 10 years.

"They went," the speaker said, and they will not return . . . in Russia they practice what they preach."

In their own way they are practicing Christian ideals more so than any other country," said Rev. Mr. Wilson as he told of the advancement being made in that country now in the building of new churches.

"And these churches are being built on land that is tax free," the speaker added.

Telling of reasons why he didn't altogether agree with the Russian type of government, the speaker said he disagreed with the dictatorship imported on the country.

"I would like to see some such dictator in Canada for a limited time," he added, "just to do some clean-up jobs."

Miss Zeta Clark Married Today to American Officer

Delicate blossom pink was the color motif of the flowers and the bridesmaids' gowns at the pretty wedding at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, this afternoon at 3, when Miss Zeta Belle Clark became the bride of Flying Officer John Thomas van Houten, R.C.A.F. The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell Clark, The Athlone, Heywood Avenue, and the groom the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John T. van Houten of Portland, Ore., U.S.A.

Princess baskets of blossom, pink gladioli and gypsophylla lined the chancel rail and choir stalls, and posies of the same blossoms, tied with matching ribbon bows, marked the guest pews. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn performed the ceremony and Mr. F. T. C. Wickett played the wedding music.

WHITE ORGANA

White embroidered organza, over white slipper satin, fashioned the lovely bridal gown, with its slim-fitting bodice, long sleeves terminating in a point over the hands edged with ruching, and very bouffant skirt. The finger-tip veil was of fine illusion net, and fell from a coronet of orange blossoms, and the bouquet was composed of Cecil Brunner roses, gardenias and swainsons.

Mr. Clark gave his daughter in marriage. Her sister, Mrs. Arthur D. Morris, was matron of honor and Miss Valerie Kearton was bridesmaid. Both wore very bouffant frocks of blossom pink organza over taffeta, with tight waists, short sleeves and mitts of net to match their gowns. Mrs. Morris wearing a little taffeta jacket. Their off-the-face, crownless hats were of blossom pink taffeta, with shirred brims, and they carried arm bouquets of May-time and Peter Fisher carnations. Flying Officer H. Rhodes, R.C.A.F., was best man, and Group Captain H. Waring, R.A.F., acted as usher.

GARDEN RECEPTION

After the ceremony a reception was held in the garden at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, the bridal party standing on the lawn against a background of flowers. Mrs. Clark welcomed the guests in a floor-length gown of navy crepe with accents of white, a navy hat with white flowers and veiling, her corsage bouquet being of gardenias and maidenhair fern. The three-tiered wedding cake centred the bride's table, which was covered with a Point de Venise lace cloth and arranged with sweetheart roses and maidenhair fern.

Flying Officer and Mrs. van Houten left on the afternoon plane for Vancouver, en route for Jasper Park, and will visit in Portland, Oregon, before leaving for Prince Rupert, where they will make their home temporarily. The bride traveled in a hand-woven dressmaker suit in Azores blue, with model matching hat, and watersnake accessories.

SHUTE-MARSHALL

A Victoria man was bridegroom at a quiet wedding solemnized by the Rev. H. Kirby at St. Peter's Church, Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, at 3 p.m., July 28, when Hazel, youngest daughter of James and the late Mrs. Shute, Harbour Grace, became the bride of P.O. Albert Marshall, R.C.N., only son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall of Victoria.

The bride looked charming as she entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Nath. Noel. She was attired in an aqua tulle ankle-length gown, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink foxgloves, roses and maidenhair fern. The matron of honor, Mrs. Graham Noseworthy, sister of the bride, wore a gown of rose taffeta with hat to match and carried a bouquet of foxgloves and roses. The groom was supported by Gordon Belcher, R.C.N. The music was rendered by Mrs. J. Yetman.

After the ceremony the bridal party motored to Carbonear to visit the bride's father, where a short honeymoon was spent. On Saturday they returned to Harbour Grace.

CATON-CARLSON

The bride wore a dress of Alice blue, in afternoon mode, with French piping at the square yoke and waistline, and full skirt falling in folds from the gathered waistline. Her white pattern hat was appliqued, with flowers on the brim, and was adorned with a chin-length veil. Her corsage was of gardenias, violets and pink roses. She was attended by Miss Ruth Amelia Stensrud, who wore an afternoon dress of tea rose, with matching jacket. Her hat was of white straw and the corsage was made up of white violets and pink carnations. Mr. Bob M. Crandall was best man.

C.W.A.C. Officer Welcomed To Britain By Fleet Street

By LOUIS HUNTER

LONDON (CP Cable) — Maj. Alice Sorby of Winnipeg, has arrived in London, in the words of the Ministry of Information, to "pave the way for the coming of the first contingent of the Canadian Women's Army Corps to Britain."

She has fulfilled her first task in such admirable fashion that the girls in khaki who will follow her have not a worry in the world.

They will be the envy of every uniformed British girl in their smart tailored uniforms if they can handle themselves with the same facility as Maj. Sorby discharged her first assignment on this side of the Atlantic.

In a "dreaded" undertaking, the officer faced in a conference room at the Ministry of Information a score of London's newspaperwomen and a handful of hardened Fleet Street newspapermen and confessed afterwards the experience was not "half as frightening as I expected."

Flanked by a military adviser to the censorship, she answered frankly and quickly the questions the correspondents asked her.

HUSBAND OVERSEAS

It developed that her husband, Walter Sorby, is a lieutenant in the Canadian army overseas, instructing in artillery with reinforcement units, and the question was raised whether he would have to salute her when they met.

"I'm pretty sure that when we meet we won't worry much whether we salute each other," she said.

The women reporters were so interested in her snappy ensemble with its trim lines, brown epaulettes and "Canada" shoulder badges that she had to show them how her peaked cap "worked" and what her shoulder-slung satchel—something the British A.T.S. girls lack—contained.

The women were quick to agree that Maj. Sorby was one of the most charming persons they had ever met. An Australian woman said she was "magnificent."

ISLAND SISTER ARRIVES

The first nursing sister for the Royal Canadian Navy arrived in the same convoy.

Members of this group who will be stationed in H.M.C.S. Niobe, a shore-base training establishment, included Nursing Sister Faith Hodgson of Alberni, B.C.

Three nursery school teachers, nine elementary teachers and 11 social workers also made the crossing as members of the Canadian Children's Service. They included Isabel Rutter of Vancouver.

Boeing Plant Head Faces Barrage of Angry Critics

SEATTLE (AP)—Take it easy girls; the Boeing Aircraft executive who spoke disparagingly of feminine frivolity on the assembly line didn't mean to cast a reflection on the ability of the sex.

Reverberations from across the United States led H. Oliver West, executive vice-president of the Boeing company, to issue a statement last night that "on the whole, our women employees are doing an excellent job. The use of women has proved so satisfactory in general that we expect within a few months to have 50 per cent or more of our entire factory payrolls made up of women workers."

He was quoted yesterday, following an interview with a touring group of women reporters, as belittling the flirtatious attitude "of many girls in the aircraft plant. Reports to the contrary flooded the news wires from other air plants around the nation."

BRANDED ANTI-FEMINIST

In Washington, D.C., Mary Anderson, head of the women's division, even suggested that "it would seem Mr. West is one of those men who didn't want women in the plant in the first place."

West protested his innocence. "The problems cited," West explained in his post-furore statement, "including the fact that some women took the jobs more for the glamor than for serious purposes, and that some were not sufficiently impressed with the importance of safety rules (in clothing and hair dress), applied to the minority rather than the majority of women workers."

At the Bremerton navy yard across Puget Sound, where 1,200 women already are employed, Lt. Cmdr. D. J. Sass, personnel officer, reported there has been a smaller percentage of unsatisfactory women than men.

"There's no room here for a sweater girl," he commented. "We insist that our feminine employees wear coveralls, flat-heeled and close-toed shoes and a tight-fitting head-dress. We attribute part of our lack of difficulty to those rules. We don't want any babe in tight slacks or an abbreviated skirt climbing around on our jobs."

Clubwomen's News

The Woolworth Whiles met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Jean Atkinson, Pandora Avenue. Miss Irene Crooks presided and the minutes from the last meeting were read by acting secretary Miss Beatrice Sullivan. Two new members were welcomed by the president. Wool conveys Mrs. K. Robinson announced that new supplies of wool were available and would be distributed to the members on request. Plans have been completed for the fall opening dance to be held at the Crystal Gardens on Sept. 3, with a popular dance band in attendance. The proceeds of this dance are to go to a service men's unit in some lonely outpost. The hostess served refreshments. The next meeting will be held in the club rooms on Aug. 22.

Red-Cross Notes

Gorge Unit of the Red Cross will meet Thursday in St. Martin's Church Hall. Members are requested to be present so that plans may be discussed for the fall activities.

Tobacco plants should be destroyed as soon as possible after the close of the harvest season, to stop multiplication of insect pests and aid in control of plant diseases.

Women Doctors Now Coming Into Own, Says Physician

CHICAGO—Now that women doctors are so desperately needed to free men for military service and to take over civilian medical requirements, the nation finds itself with only a handful of women physicians and surgeons, says Dr. R. R. Spencer of the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md., writing in the current issue of War Medicine.

While the policy of discouraging women from entering medical schools has been "short-sighted and ungenerous, this is no time for postmortems," says Dr. Spencer. He urges that college women with special aptitudes in the biological sciences be encouraged to study medicine.

After the war women will be filling key medical posts now held by men, as consultants in industrial hygiene, directors of public health services, surgeons and research directors, predicts Dr. Spencer.

HIS LUMBAGO HAS NOT COME BACK

Keeps Free of It With Kruschen
There can be no doubt about the effectiveness of the remedy this man uses against lumbago. Read this letter: "About four years ago, I had a bad attack of lumbago. After being in hospital for two weeks taking heat treatment, I started taking Kruschen Salt. Since then, I am happy to say, I have not been troubled with lumbago. I shall still continue taking Kruschen to be sure the lumbago won't come back."

A. C. C. Why is it that Kruschen is so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble, and removes the cause, which is in an impure blood-stream. The six salts in Kruschen help to keep the blood-stream pure and vigorous by promoting a clockwork regularity of all the organs of elimination. Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c. and 75c.

Start Shortly On War Housing

Work on the housing project for war workers in the James Bay district is expected to start in a few days.

The agreement approved by the city covering transfer of property to the company, has been signed by Wartime Housing Ltd. officers in Ottawa, according to a telegram received at the City Hall Tuesday by Alderman T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the lands committee.

Officials of the company here said actual construction would start as soon as material could be assembled and contracts awarded. Tenders have already been called for the work, but have not yet been opened. Officials of the company here awaited confirmation from Ottawa of the telegram received by the city.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the other United Nations are headed for an acute food shortage about the end of 1943, Chairman Hampton Fulmer (Dem. S.C.) of the House of Representatives agriculture committee said today in an interview.

Fulmer said he based his belief on a growing shortage of farm labor, and what he described as an increasing tendency to disregard problems of the farmer. The only solution he could see to the farm-labor problem, Fulmer said, was to boost farmers' income to permit the payment of wages that could compete with off-the-farm pay.

Golfers Buy War Savings Stamps

Paul Glaser, prominent Seattle golfer, buys War Savings Stamps from Miss Canada.

Golf took second place in the eyes of even those veteran players taking part in the annual championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association, at the Royal Colwood Golf Club last week, when a group of young ladies in the bright red and blue uniform of Miss Canada, took possession of the clubhouse to sell War Savings Stamps.

Interest in the royal and ancient game vanished. Locker room post mortems were forgotten. Even the 19th hole lost its clientele, as players and visitors alike gathered not only to look and listen, but to make a splendid contribution to Miss Canada in this latest Dominion-wide War Savings Campaign.

Paul Glaser, well-known business man of Seattle, was one of a group of American visitors attending the tournament, who bought stamps. He is a frequent visitor to Victoria and is popular with everyone he meets. Golf has been his hobby for many years and while he did not place in the present tournament, he is considered to be a very fair exponent of the game.

ALTHOUGH no official announcement has been made, there is a lot of underwork going on regarding hockey on the coast for next winter. Harry Forward, Nanaimo, secretary of the Pacific Coast Amateur League, which operated last season with teams from Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster, made a hurried trip to Vancouver last week and after four days of scouting around returned home with anything but a bright prospect for the coming season.

It seems that Vancouver Norvans have little hopes of being able to enter a team in the coast circuit. The Vancouver Arena is still in the hands of the B.C. Security Commission and there is little chance of it being turned back to sport. The general opinion is the building will be taken over by the militia. But the big trouble seems to be the question of traveling. Norvans, backed by the shipyard, hold little hope of being able to get their players off for trips. Such being the case, their entry in the league would be impossible. A meeting of the league will be held in Nanaimo shortly at which the future of the league will be determined.

Regardless of the outcome of this meeting, hockey prospects for Victoria are bright. There is a lot of talk about a senior city league embracing the V.M.D. and the three services, Navy, Army and R.C.A.F. It will be remembered the services had a league of their own last season. This winter, however, they would be willing to participate in a civilian league, we are told. A lot of first-class hockey material is stationed here with the services and such a league, if organized, would provide hockey of the highest calibre. Then there is the possibility that Nanaimo would be willing to participate in an all-island league.

While writing this column about hockey we had a couple of callers in the persons of George Dunn and Bobby Summers. Dunn played for the Bapeos last winter while Summers turned in some smart performances for the local junior outfit. They are holidaying in Victoria while the horse races lay off for a week at Hastings Park. Dunn has been acting as chief assistant to starter Clay Puett after doing all right for himself as starter for the first week. Riding under contract to Doc Darbyshire of Victoria, Summers has been boosting home his share of winners. Dunn and Summers will be back in Victoria for the 14-day meeting at the Willows. Chatting to P.O. Bob Dewhurst, manager of the Navy baseball team, at the park Monday night as he was putting his boys through a stiff practice after their scheduled game with the Army had been postponed, he informed us that protest filed by the Navy softball club over their final game with the Barons, was the first in history ever laid by a Navy team during the many years the blue-jackets have been participating in local sport. That final game was marked by several unfortunate incidents and it is too bad the Navy were forced to put a blemish on a long-cherished record.

Hubbell Hits Old Form

Wins Eight Straight

NEW YORK (AP)—Melvin Ott doesn't know whether it's monkey glands or a fountain of youth or a diet of vitamins that has put the bluish of youth back in King Carl Hubbell's southpaw soup-bone again. And what's more, master Melvin doesn't care.

"All I know," says the New York Giants manager, "is that he's pitching better now than at any time in the last three or four years."

Which is a motion the National League's better hitters will second unanimously. They've been trying to knock old square-jawed block off and getting nowhere since July 11, while he piled up a string of eight straight victories, after losing six of his first seven outings.

You might like to pooh-pooh this somewhat, but don't forget that Hub is well on the way to his 40th birthday, now, and has been kicking around in the big time for 13 years.

SAYS HE'S LUCKY All Hubbell says about his return to his palmy pitching form of the '30s is that "it's just better to be lucky than good." This will no doubt come as more of a shock to the loop's batters than steak-less rations. They know he's always had the talent, and they also know that while he's had his share of luck, too, a lot of it has been bad.

But Ott says that Hubbell had to start the year against the league's top two clubs—Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals—seven times in a row "simply because we were in a spot, and when you're in a spot, there's only one guy you'll ask to pull you out—Hub."

Then Cliff Melton's left arm went bad and King Carl was told to go out there and take a regular turn. He hasn't lost since. In fact, when he knocked off Casey Stengel's Boston beauties Tuesday for the 24th win of his big league career, he did it on three days rest.

NEW YORK (AP)—Larry MacPhail, president of Brooklyn Dodgers, took a physical examination for the United States army last Thursday. It was learned Tuesday from the army recruiting service.

The army, however, declined to give results of the examination and MacPhail refused to comment.

MacPhail was a captain in the first great war and was one of a group which vainly sought to kidnap the Kaiser.

Who Wouldn't Play Golf?

Wildwood, N.J., Club officials, experimenting with girl caddies, are not puzzled by high scores posted by players who usually shoot in the low 80's. Left to right: Joyce Yoder, Jean Wheaton, Gertrude O'Farrell, Jane DeHaven and Amanda McVey.

Must Rate Lowe Among Greatest

NEW YORK (AP)—You can start a mild argument almost any time by mentioning that Joe Gordon is a better second baseman than Bobby Doerr, or vice versa, and somewhere in the argument the names of Nap Lajoie and Eddie Collins and Charley Gehringer will be dragged in. Never a word about Robert H. Lowe.

That's not too surprising, as Bobby Lowe was playing second base when most of the current fans were playing with rattles. H. H. Scott of Newark, Ohio, suggested hopefully that Lowe deserves a spot in the hall of fame.

Scott sent along a record of some of Lowe's feats. Lowe's career carried through the 90s. He closed it in 1907 with the pennant-winning Detroit Tigers.

He was with the Boston National League club when it topped the field in 1891-92-93-97 and 98.

The feats are the more notable because they were turned in at a time the ball had more turtle in it than rabbit and a home run really was something.

GREAT RECORD Here are a few of Lowe's performances.

Hit four home runs and a single in one game for a total of 17 bases, with two of the home runs in one inning.

Batted more than 300 from 1893 to 1897 inclusive.

Made six hits in six at bats for a total of 10 bases.

Made six runs in one game, a feat shared by only five other players.

Made 210 hits and scored 156 runs in 1898.

Led all shortstops in batting and fielding in 1891, and all second basemen in the same departments in 1900.

Played 34 consecutive games without an error, accepting 165 chances.

There is how it figured out: This was $47,625 bet on the Travers. Of this, the regular state and track take was 10 per cent five each—or $4,762. This left $42,863 to be returned to the bettors. Of the original total, $39,828 was riding on Shut Out—or $2,135 3-5 return for each $2 mutual ticket.

But the state and track put their legal snatch on the 2.8 cents "breakage" over each nickel. In complete figures, the fans put $47,625 into the iron men on the race and got back $41,819.40. The track had $3,134 to pay out in winnings, but actually paid out only $1,991. The breakage is nice work if you can get it.

Deal Falls Through MONTREAL (CP)—Negotiations have collapsed between Montreal Royals and Brooklyn Dodgers to bring pitcher Schoolboy Rowe and infielder Babe Dahlgren to Montreal, Royals officials here said Tuesday.

Previously it was announced the two Dodgers were coming to Montreal to bolster the Royals, a Brooklyn farm team, in the International League.

Officials here said they understood Rowe and Dahlgren had announced they were through with baseball for the season after the negotiations at Baltimore Monday.

Cards Finally Threaten

Win as Dodgers Lose

After nearly everybody except their relatives had given them up for lost, the St. Louis Cardinals are threatening at last to make a race out of the National League pennant drive.

With southpaw Max Lanier hurling seven-hit shutout ball, the Cards ran their latest winning streak to five in a row Tuesday night by beating the Chicago Cubs and Claude Passeau, 5 to 0.

The Dodgers dropped into Philadelphia for a one-night stand and were jolted, 3 to 1, by the Phils, whom they had expected to roll over and play dead.

While the Dodgers can look for trouble in their remaining six meetings with the Cards, they also have a problem close to home in the surprising New York Giants.

The Giants, in third place and unwilling to vacate without a struggle, have won six and lost eight with the Dodgers and still have eight more battles scheduled with the Flatbush flock.

Carl Hubbell pitched the Giants to a 10 to 2 triumph over the Boston Braves Tuesday, scattering six hits as his boss, Mel Ott, chipped in with his 21st home-run and took over the leadership of the league. The Pittsburgh Pirates dropped Cincinnati five games behind the Giants by whitewashing the Reds, 3 to 0, on the six-hit hurling of Johnny Lanning in another night contest.

In the American League, the Boston Red Sox ran their winning streak to five games by edging out the New York Yankees, 8 to 7 in 10 innings.

Johnny Peacock doubled off relief pitcher Johnny Murphy in the 10th and scored the winning run on Dom Limaggio's outfield fly, handing the veteran Yankee fireman his seventh straight defeat.

Denny Galehouse turned in a seven-hit shutout in a night contest as the St. Louis Browns shut out the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 0, and climbed to within a single game of the third-place Cleveland Indians, who were idle.

The Washington Senators came from behind to trip the Philadelphia Athletics, 2 to 1, in another early tilt, with Alex Carrasquel shading Phil Marchildon in a mound duel.

COAST LEAGUE Seattle Rainiers defeated Portland Beavers 4 to 1 in Coast League baseball last night but they lost ground in their desperate race to overtake the leading Los Angeles Angels.

The Angels, led by heavy hitting Eddie Mayo, increased their lead to four games over Sacramento and nine over Seattle by winning a doubleheader from Francisco Seals, 2 to 1 and 12 to 3.

Mayo went to bat eight times during the evening and collected six hits, accounted for two runs, stole base once, made three assists and failed to err.

Sacramento also won but lost ground to the Angels with a 4 to 1 victory over San Diego behind the three-hit hurling of Kemp Wicker.

Hollywood batters rallied in men Stake in record-time with favored Volo Song.

First place was worth $6,666 to Volo Song, while Worthy Boy earned $3,333 for second and Gordon Gray took down $2,000 for third.

Marion Finally Learns to Hit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Once mild and meek, Martin Marion, St. Louis Cardinals' sweet-fielding shortstop, is stepping up to the plate like Rogers Hornsby these days with a chip on his shoulder instead of a helpless bat.

By changing his stance to resemble The Rajah's Marion has become a terror with the stick and one of the principal reasons why the Cardinals are tearing into Brooklyn Dodgers' National League lead.

When the team left St. Louis for a swing around the circuit in July, Marion was batting a feeble .251. He was the pitchers' pet. Whoever batted ahead of him in the line-up was assured of a lot of intentional passes. The pitchers walked them, with men in scoring positions, to get at Marion, the all-American out.

Describing his transformation Marion told today of his quiet experiments in practice. Without a tip-off to Manager Billy Southworth, he started swinging in Hornsby style. He dug his right foot deep in the box, poked his left foot toward the plate and stepped into the ball.

MORE POWER

The result was more power and the youngster quickly turned practice into perfection. He has slugged out 38 hits in his last 105 times at bat, a 362 clip which has raised his season's average to .285 and has him flirting with 300 for the first time in his career.

"Slugs" is among the league leaders in doubles with 30 and he has three triples. He expects to crack a homerun any day now as a complete answer to the fans who used to say: "If he could only hit like he fields!"

Star Athletes With Canadians

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT (CP)—Athletes who have left their imprint on Canadian sports pages from coast to coast sailed with the movement of Canadian troops whose safe arrival in Britain was announced Tuesday night.

Football stars, golfers, boxers and hockey players were among the troops. Top-ranking soldier among them was Major R. J. Hegon of Saskatoon, who used to play football with the Regina Rough Riders, while another former pigskin hender was Gnr. Gerald Morrison, who played with the Calgary Bronks.

Others included Lieut. A. T. Wilson, a well-known western hockeyist.

The boxers included Gnr. A. Bazinet of Dollette, Que., former Dominion amateur flyweight champion who reached the finals of the New York Golden Gloves tourney in 1939.

Goldfom sent Sgt. Walter Meyers, pro at the London Hunt Club.

Williams Sets Scoring Pace With 7 Goals

It looked as if the Oakland lacrosse team was about wound up for the 1942 season Tuesday night and United Services would do any more winding up there was to be done. They outplayed Bob McInnes' kid team in 60 minutes of clean, rough play that was marred only by the score, 27 to 9.

This was the second straight for the service lads in the best of five series to decide who meets Bays-Douglas Tire in the city championship final. As lacrosse goes it wasn't a bad game at all—as competition goes it was like fighting a tank with a motorcycle.

The Services put their heaviest and smartest team of the current season on the floor and ran roughshod over last year's junior champions right from the opening whistle. On offense and defence they had Oaks going round in circles and had it not been for Bill Andrews in the Oakland goal, the league would have had to pay a chartered accountant to dope out the score sheet.

An indication of the play in itself was the difference in shots on goal, the losers pumping a mild 32 at Louis Moro in the Services nets, while the victors slapped 72 shots at Andrews. Bill stopped 45 and was hopelessly beaten on the ones that got past him. Moro, who had comparatively little work to do, blocked 23, some of them real stingers.

SWEET PASSING

Using their weight and experience to advantage Services got easily 75 per cent of the rebounds and loose balls, and in the first half especially, turned them into goals with ludicrous ease. Their passing was lovely to watch, easily the best they have shown this year. Probably instigated by Art Chapman and George Urquhart, two old guards, who have more lacrosse in their heads than the average team has in its legs, they specialized all evening in long passes from their defence.

When these throws were accurate, as they usually were, they almost invariably paid off in goals.

In a nice and tight first period, the best spot of playing during the game, Services took a 4 to 1 lead and looked as though they could never be beaten. In the second quarter they broke away time and again and picked up enough loose balls around the opposing net to score eight goals.

Oaks, unable to pound their way through a beef trust defence, scored only two. Score at the half was 12 to 3. Little Art Mayo, snappy Services forward, went out of the game in the second quarter, his trick knee giving away after a hard check.

Score at three-quarter time was 21 to 4. Matters took on a ghastly, never mind serious aspect. In the last quarter Services relented somewhat and began to frisk around a bit. They outscored Oakland only six goals to five in this period. Oaks got those goals as everyone ran around trying to score.

WILLIAMS HIGH MAN

The night's high scorers were Jack Williams, Urquhart and Earl McDonald with seven, six and five goals respectively. Williams was back in form after a temporary slump and was really finding the corners.

Little Johnny "Worry Wart" Penketh was Oaks' high man with three goals. Johnny just wouldn't stop fighting. Jimmie McKeachie scored two.

In the preliminary Young Jokers defeated Young Bays, 10 to 3 to enter the final against Owl Drug in the city juvenile A championship.

Brown and Turner refereed. Senior team and scorers follow: United Services—Moro, Art, Andrews, Caydizen 2, Phelan, Urquhart 6, McDonald 5, Featherstone 3, James 1, Dixon 3, Williams 7, May Chambers, Worsencroft and Chapman.

Oaklands—Andrews, Rhodes, Druce, Prior 1, Mair, Turnquist, Sage, McKeachie 2, Lea 1, Ranson, Calverly 1, Penketh 3, Williams and Popham 1.

While playing over the Oak Bay links Tuesday Mrs. Arthur Johnston scored a hole-in-one on the 150-yard par 3 second hole. Her partner was Mrs. Goodlake.

Ball Playoffs Open Tonight

With Cy Shillito and Tommy Musgrave, a pair of clever right-handers, listed as the starting hurlers, V.M.D. and Pitzer and Nex will open the senior ball league city championship playoffs tonight at Athletic Park.

League officials have advanced the starting time to 6.15 instead of 6.30.

Shipyards finished the league schedule in first place, while Pitzer and Nex wound up third. Their series will be a best-of-three affair, with the winner entering the final against the victor of the second series between the Navy and Army, second and fourth finishers, respectively.

Navy and Army will get their series started Friday night and Saturday two games will be run off.

Army ball tossers Tuesday night captured the championship of the second division with a 17 to 5 victory over the Navy. Soldiers were forced to come from behind to win, the Navy grabbing a four-run margin in the first inning. Fifth inning saw the game wcn and lost when the Army sent 10 runners across the plate. Lee was the winning hurler.

That question will come to all of us some day—and we refuse to believe there is a single Victoria resident who does not want to be able to proudly say "I did my bit." Of course our government must see to it that everyone of us DOES do our share in carrying the stupendous share of the financial burden of Total War, and so long as these burdens are equitably distributed no one is going to object. But we are thinking now of the EXTRA burden we may share if we will — the VOLUNTARY burden of buying War Savings Stamps and War Savings Certificates. It is the assuming of these VOLUNTARY burdens that will bring an inner satisfaction of duty well done that can be achieved in no other way. It is the burdens we assume regardless of what "the other fellow" does or leaves undone, which proves a Patriotism which is alone worthy of the name. We ask you to undertake your share of this extra saving.

Distribution of civilian gas masks to A.R.P. workers in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt is under way today following receipt of shipments from the Advisory Council, Provincial Civilian Protection Committee, Vancouver, last Saturday and this week.

Esquimalt A.R.P. received a total of 576 masks and plans for their distribution are under way. H. W. Pecknold, police chief and A.R.P. controller, said.

Oak Bay has received 383 civilian respirators. A. S. G. Musgrave, Oak Bay A.R.P. controller, will meet with wardens tonight to discuss distribution problems. Since there are 700 workers in the Oak Bay A.R.P., masks for the present will be available only for the active wardens.

TOWN TOPICS

Three motorists were each fined $2.50 in police court today on parking charges.

Post-war rehabilitation plans will be discussed by the city's business and trades development committee at a meeting in the City Hall Friday at 2:30.

H. V. Chestnut, manager of radio station CJVI, Victoria, will be guest speaker at the Lions Club luncheon to be held in Spencer's dining room at noon Thursday. Mr. Chestnut will describe the business of putting on a program and the behind the scenes action during broadcasts.

Allocation of corn syrup, through rationing or some other medium, to mothers requiring the food for children, is suggested by Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, in a letter he has forwarded to the Canadian Medical Society. Dr. Felton took the action since the syrup, needed in baby's formulas, is difficult to obtain here, stocks having been bought up by bakeries.

Board to Revise Wood Fuel Orders

A revision of wood fuel orders for Victoria area will be forwarded to Ottawa soon and action may be expected within two or three weeks. Dr. Roy Cameron, deputy administrator of wood fuel for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced Tuesday.

Mr. Cameron made the announcement following discussions of sawdust and millwood problems with both producers and dealers in Victoria, Cowichan Lake and Duncan.

Mr. Cameron arrived in Victoria last week from Vancouver where he held a series of meetings similar to those arranged here. Vancouver dealers asked an all-year rate of $5 per unit for fir sawdust.

Best sawdust prices, as set by the board here, were $4 per unit in May and June, $4.50 in July and August and $5 from September to the end of April.

Maj. Gignac Named Adjutant, 6th Div.

Appointment of Maj. L. P. Gignac, age 45, of Quebec, as deputy assistant adjutant-general for the 6th Division, home defence force on Vancouver Island, was announced today in Ottawa by Defence Minister Ralston.

Maj. W. A. Wilson, age 55, of Vancouver, was appointed district medical officer with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. A graduate from the University of Toronto school of medicine in 1911, Maj. Wilson will be in charge of medical units of M.D. 11, which retains its identity only to conform with King's rules and regulations. Until he accepted his present appointment, Maj. Wilson was chief of medicine at Shaughnessy Hospital, Vancouver.

Commissioned in the army medical corps in 1911, he served overseas and was promoted to the rank of major before returning to Canada in 1912.

Still Unchecked

VANCOUVER (CP)—Forestry service officials here were advised today that the 1,500-acre blaze which has damaged an estimated 5,000,000 feet of felled and bucked logs on the secondary operation of the Elk River Timber Company northwest of Courtenay, Vancouver Island, is "still going strong."

Fire fighters reported that the blaze was running away from the valuable fir stands into sparsely timbered mountain country. Variable winds have made it difficult for the crews to hold their fire lines. About 250 men, drawn from logging camp and forest service crews, are fighting the fire.

Ice Man Joke

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—A woman living in a trailer house complained to C. W. Burdick, city light, water and ice commissioner: "Your ice isn't nearly as good as Omaha's." "What's the matter with it?" he inquired. "I don't know unless it's because you use too much water," the woman answered.

Gibb to Mediate Milk Prices

W. R. Dowrey, regional director, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, announced today John Gibb, representing the regional controller of dairy products, would mediate the dispute between the Cowichan Agricultural Society and the board over Vancouver Island's milk prices.

Dowrey said Gibb would visit Victoria and Duncan to confer with distributors and producers. Dowrey said he was confident an amicable settlement could be worked out within two or three days.

Island dairymen had threatened to convert their produce to butter unless a new system of distributing milk were accepted.

Rival Rail Routes to Alaska

B.C. and Alberta Present Cases To High-ranking U.S. Army Men

EDMONTON (CP)—Possible routes for a railway to Alaska are understood to have been the main subject of a conference of United States army engineers, officers from Washington, D.C., and representatives of the Alberta and British Columbia governments and the Canadian National Railways here last night.

No official statement was issued concerning the conference, which is reported to have been called by the U.S. officers. Premier Hart of British Columbia, who was among those attending, left for the coast without comment.

"I came here to look over the progress of our work and have nothing else to say," said Lt.-Gen. B. B. Somervell of Washington, U.S. army officer, who was accompanied by Maj.-Gen. Eugene Reybold and other staff officers.

Others at the conference were Premier Abernethy of Alberta and Hon. W. A. Fallow, Alberta Minister of Public Works; G. G. McGeer, Liberal M.P. for Vancouver-Burrard; W. R. Devenish of Winnipeg, general manager of C.N.R. western lines; Col. Theodore Wyman Jr., chief U.S. district engineer with headquarters here; Brig. F. M. W. Harvey, officer commanding Military District No. 13.

SURVEY PARTIES IN FIELD

The possibility of extending a railway from Prince George, B.C., by way of Finlay Forks to Fairbanks, Alaska, has been under discussion for some time and survey parties already are out on this road, which involves railway building for a distance of 1,500 miles, the conference is reported to have been told by Gen. Somervell.

Water Shut Off, Main Scraped

The Gonzales district, east of Ross Bay Cemetery to the city limits, and south of Fairfield Road, went without its regular water supply today.

Service was shut off at 8 while city workmen scraped the six-inch main on Fairfield to provide more adequate pressure for residents of the Queen Anne Heights and other districts. Officials at the city water commissioner's office said the service would be restored tonight. Residents of the area affected had been informed of the turn-off and most of them filled their bathtubs.

When the water was shut off, a light cable was floated through the main, which has been down 40 years, and has become badly corroded. To the light cable was attached a heavier cable, and to that was fastened a patent scraper which was hauled through by motor power, dislodging the accumulation of rust. The water was then turned on and the rust flushed out.

Officials were unable to say how much the action would boost pressure, but indicated it would postpone the necessity of replacing the old main for some time.

Cost of the work is estimated at 17 cents a foot. The section of the main treated is 3,650 feet long. Nine city workmen were employed on the job.

Main purpose of the U.S. officers' visit, it was claimed, was to obtain information and, in particular, to obtain data concerning the different railway routes to Alaska. In this way, it is a fact finding body that will report later to Washington.

Advantages of the British Columbia route were put forth by Premier Hart and engineers from the coast province.

ALBERTA ROUTE

Mr. Fallow is reported to have emphasized the advantage of an Alberta route that would take the Mackenzie River route and then across the Northwest Territories to the Yukon and Alaska.

Gen. Somervell is understood to have told the conference that there was nothing definite concerning a route, though surveys were being made of the Prince George road, and that he wished to obtain all the information he could get as to any feasible route for a railway to Alaska.

The conference lasted several hours, it was learned. Premier Hart and party left today over the C.N.R. for Vancouver. He was accompanied by Arthur Dixon, B.C. chief engineer; F. C. Green, surveyor-general, and D. O. Lewis, assistant chief engineer for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Police Stores Case Adjourned

Counsel Withdraws When Request Refused

Withdrawal of Joseph McKenna, defence counsel, caused termination of proceedings in City Police Court today in the preliminary hearing of Joseph Arthur Walsh, Mr. McKenna's client, and Leonard James Simmons, charged with conspiracy to defraud in shoe dealings with the provincial police. The case was remanded to next Wednesday at Mr. Walsh's request.

Mr. Simmons is former quartermaster for the provincial police. Mr. Walsh is managing director of William Cathcart Ltd.

Both P. J. Sinnott, counsel for Simmons, and Mr. McKenna had sought an adjournment to secure information they contended was essential to their defences.

"To go on today will be a denial of justice to the accused so serious I will withdraw from the case," said Mr. McKenna. "It would create an inability on the part of the accused to present a full defence."

That application for an adjournment was declined by Magistrate Henry Hall and Mr. McKenna withdrew.

J. B. Clearhue, K.C., who with W. C. Moresby, K.C., represents the crown, began to outline his case.

Mr. Walsh rose in the prisoner's box and asked an adjournment to secure counsel.

The application was not opposed by Mr. Clearhue nor Mr. Moresby and the hearing was remanded until next Wednesday.

ASK DETAILED PARTICULARS

Opening the hearing Mr. Sinnott had submitted letters to Mr. Moresby and from Mr. Moresby to himself regarding a request for certain particulars in the case. He had not been informed of details in the conspiracy charge related to incidents allegedly transpiring between certain dates, he said.

"I submit I'm entitled to see the invoices, to know by whom they were allegedly delivered and what part, if any, was delivered and what payments were made to different people," counsel contended. The information, he said, covered 50 items set out on 50 different dates.

At the request of the magistrate, Mr. Sinnott set out categorically each of his requests. "The matter could have been easily disposed of if I had received a transcript," counsel continued, referring to his previous request for an account of the departmental inquiry into police stores. Mr. Sinnott claimed a number of exhibits had been taken from his client during the inquiry and he understood they were in the possession of the Crown. It was necessary for the defence that he should have access to them "unless the Crown has something to hide," he said.

CANNOT AFFORD TRANSCRIPT

Mr. Sinnott added a transcript of proceedings would cost $375 and that his client could not afford that. One of the counsel, W. H. Davey, had a transcript, he said.

Mr. McKenna told the court he was not in a position to go on for reasons similar to those of Mr. Sinnott. He had learned only Monday that he could have access to certain books in possession of the Crown and wished to study them with an auditor. He asked for an adjournment to next Wednesday.

"A demand for particulars has been made to me and we have furnished them. We contend those particulars are sufficient," said Mr. Moresby. "The charge, as laid, is clear and concise, the particulars are sufficient."

They gave counsel knowledge of the offense with which accused were charged and that was enough, Mr. Moresby said.

Mr. Clearhue said the crown was prepared to proceed, although it did not wish to take anyone by surprise. Defence counsel had had the right to see the books in ample time and still had time to examine them, he said. "We would like to go on," he added.

"I am surprised my learned friend should try to hustle Simmons through without giving him a ghost of a chance," said Mr. Sinnott.

Magistrate Hall ruled he did not feel called upon to have the details produced at the present time, although they could be admitted later in the hearing.

At that point Mr. McKenna said he would withdraw from the case if the hearing proceeded today.

"The suggestion of a denial of justice is very far-fetched," commented Mr. Moresby.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE

QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Armored Troops in Contingent

Men, Women Soldiers Arrive in Britain

By DOUGLAS AMARON

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND

(CP)—The attacking power of the Canadian army has been strengthened with the arrival in Britain of support formations for armored troops already in the country, while the first member of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, the first naval nurses and the first members of a social service corps now are at work.

Artillery and other auxiliary units of the armored forces, bolstered by small regimental and headquarters formations, already are established at camps at the Canadian army area in southern England, where they will be joined later by the main body of their force.

The newly-arrived soldiers—who numbered in the thousands—were accompanied by Allied forces trained in Canada—including Belgian soldiers and merchant seamen and soldiers of the Netherlands army.

FIRST C.W.A.C. OVERSEAS

The convoy which brought the soldiers carried Maj. Alice Sorby of Winnipeg, first member of the C.W.A.C. to reach Britain. She will serve as a staff officer at Canadian military headquarters.

Small, blond, 38—and looking 10 years younger—the major worked Fleet Street in a press conference at the Ministry of Information. It was her first overseas assignment and she was a soldier every fraction of the 51 inches that show on her medical card.

She said her husband, Lieut. Walter Sorby, an artillery instructor, had talked to her on the telephone for the first time since February, 1941, and "I'm pretty sure that when we meet we won't worry-much whether we salute each other."

The troops, including ordnance forces, a field ambulance unit, anti-aircraft artillery, Royal Canadian Artillery, signals, engineering and postal forces, have spent the last few days unloading their personal luggage and looking forward to their debarkation leave.

After their leave they will start the intensive training Canadians have undergone since the first contingent arrived just before Christmas in 1939.

With the ground forces came hundreds of members of the R.C.A.F., many of them ground crew technicians and some new pilots to strengthen the growing striking arm of Canada's birdmen.

An R.C.A.F. band, which will probably tour stations and entertain Canadian squadrons, was in the contingent with its drum-major, W.O. Doug Thompson, well-known Toronto football player and rower.

VICTORIA L.A.C.

Ground crew men included L.A.C.'s F. E. Ives of Vancouver and R. A. Head of Victoria.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT (CP)—Guarded by the bristling guns of American and British warships, thousands of Canadian troops sailed from this port in the curling mists of an early August morning. Their safe arrival in Britain, where they will wait their call to action, was announced Tuesday night.

"Keen-eyed men in the familiar light blue of the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. mingled with comrades in arms wearing the darker garb of the Royal Australian Air Force, New Zealanders and a handful of fighting French aviators.

WRENS LEAVE

Six "Wrens," nursing sisters from naval establishments on Canada's eastern and western coasts, chatted excitedly. They were the first female navy nurses to make the crossing.

Members of civilian organizations included a group of Canadian firefighters for Britain, and a contingent of 25 former school teachers and social workers, members of the Canadian children's service, a volunteer organization.

A hundred or more British merchant seamen sailed with the troops. Most were from ships torpedoed and sunk in the grim battle of the Atlantic.

A prominent divorce lawyer claims that glaring wall paintings "shock the eyes and create domestic irritation."

'MY GAL SAL' OPENS AT ATLAS

They grow some fine Englishmen in Pennsylvania. That's what fans of John Sutton think, for the British actor first saw the light of day in the Quaker state. He is currently to be seen at the Atlas Theatre in 20th Century-Fox's "My Gal Sal," the Technicolor musical.

Sutton's father was a British army officer, and during the family's travels, John was born in the United States. However, he was soon taken back to England, where he matriculated at one of the finest public schools, finishing his education at Sandhurst, the English West Point.

'49th Parallel' Coming to York

"49th Parallel," the first front-rank Canadian feature film to be made for world-wide showing. It is already the smash hit of the British Isles, rated not only as the finest film made by Empire studios in wartime, but as one of the greatest in British film history.

Following its opening in London, Columbia Pictures in Canada was bombed with requests for premieres—the total number actually ran into hundreds.

"49th Parallel," coming to the York Theatre tomorrow, is the thriller of Nazis in Canada with Lawrence Olivier, Raymond Massey, Leslie Howard, Anton Walbrook and Eric Portman as its stars. A full-dress film expedition headed by Michael Powell, director-in-chief, spent months in Canada shooting the exteriors, and included thousands of Canadians in the cast. The interiors were made in Denham between blitzes.

OAK BAY-PLAZA

Hollywood movie studios, accustomed to insuring objects of art and jewelry used in pictures, got a real lesson in adequate protection for a valued property by Harry James, maestro of a No. 1 swing band.

James, who with his orchestra, shares starring honors with the Andrews Sisters in Universal's new comedy musical, "Private Buckaroo," now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, not only insured his trumpet for $2,500 but hired a guard to hold it during the times when he wasn't using it on the set. James calls his trumpet guard a cdponeer.

Recognized today as the successor to the late "Bix" Beiderbecke, the "world's greatest trumpeter," James doesn't use an ordinary trumpet. His instruments are specially made, are larger than the ordinary instruments and have a very tiny mouthpiece.

CADET THEATRE

Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra, one of the leading dance and recording aggregations, make their Hollywood debut in the new Paramount comedy with music, "The Fleet's In," which is now at the Cadet Theatre, starring Dorothy Lamour, William Holden, Eddie Bracken, with a host of top flight supporting entertainers. Nine song hits are featured.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Macdonald Carey and Constance Moore, who play the second leads to Rosalind Russell and Fred MacMurray in Paramount's hilarious comedy, "Take a Letter Darling," which is currently at the Capitol Theatre, both hail originally from Sioux City, Iowa. The first time they met, however, was on the Paramount lot.

Another "first" for Carey is his appearance in "Take a Letter Darling," which marks his movie debut. He comes to Hollywood from the Broadway stage hit, "Lady in the Dark" in which he was leading man to Gertrude Lawrence. Carey, good looking and a fine actor, is expected to go far in his motion picture career.

George Coleman Of C.P.R. Retires

WINNIPEG—George T. Coleman, general superintendent of transportation for Canadian Pacific Railway since 1936, and whose record with the company extends back more than 49 years, will retire under pension regulations Sept. 1, according to an announcement today by W. M. Neal, vice-president.

Succeeding to the position of general superintendent of transportation for the entire system will be H. J. Main, who has been superintendent of transportation, western lines, Winnipeg, since October of last year.

It is not given to every man to follow the growth of a great corporation from the days of its early struggles to the attainment of fame as the world's greatest, privately-owned transportation system, but such has been the happy lot of Mr. Coleman. He was born at Carleton Place, Ont. The romance of railroading also claimed two of his brothers, D. C. Coleman, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the late Charles E. Coleman, who died at North Bay last January, and who spent 35 years in the company service. Mr. Coleman's son, H. Travers Coleman, is Canadian Pacific press representative at Vancouver.

MANSON PROMOTED

Appointment of William Manson, superintendent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Regina, to be superintendent of transportation for the west, with headquarters at Winnipeg, was announced today by W. A. Mather, vice-president of western lines. The change is effective Sept. 1.

Mr. Manson will be succeeded as superintendent of the Regina division by Norman A. Link, assistant superintendent at Medicine Hat. This appointment was made today by H. C. Taylor, general superintendent of the Saskatchewan district, at Moose Jaw.

The promotions follow the retirement at the end of this month of George T. Coleman, general superintendent of transportation for the system, at Montreal, and the appointment of H. J. Main of Winnipeg, whose place Mr. Manson is taking, to the system post.

C.N.S. Officer Honored

Captain Percy Ambrose Kelly, Chief Officer of the Canadian National Steamship Lady Hawkins when that vessel was sunk by an enemy submarine on the evening of Feb. 19, 1942, was recently honored by the Dominion Government for conspicuous gallantry shown on that occasion. The testimonial took the form of a silver tray on which the following inscription was engraved:

"Presented by the Government of Canada to Percy Ambrose Kelly, Chief Officer, R.M.S. Lady Hawkins, for meritorious conduct when the vessel was sunk without warning by an enemy submarine on the night of Feb. 19, 1942."

The presentation took place in the Nova Scotia Hotel at Halifax. Captain Kelly, receiving the government's token at the hands of C. H. Hosterman, Marine Agent for the Department of Transport at Halifax, representing Hon. C. D. Howe, Acting Transport Minister.

right is Captain Charles Waterhouse, Superintendent of Pilots, Halifax. In the centre background is W. G. Miller, Halifax manager, Canadian National Steamships, who represented R. B. Teakle, General Manager. Standing in the foreground next to Mr. Hosterman is Arthur Randies, Director of Merchant Seamen at Ottawa.

A message of congratulation from Mr. Teakle said: "Mr. Kelly throughout the trying period displayed the high qualities of those who go down to the sea in ships."

Captain Kelly was in charge of a lifeboat containing 76 persons which was adrift four days before being sighted by a rescue ship. The official account of the event cites that "Captain Kelly showed gallantry in staying to assist in the lowering of other boats after his own was safely away. His judgment in all things was above discussion. His leadership and friendly discipline were first-class. His seamanship was good. Not one person in the lifeboat ever criticized him. All considered him deserving of honor."

Special Fares to Prairie Points

Last of such excursions before Aug. 31, after which, as announced by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, such travel bargains no longer will be permitted, Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways are offering 30-day round trip excursions from B.C. to the prairies.

Tickets will be on sale Aug. 28, 29 and 30, good for 30 days from date of sale, and will apply from all B.C. stations to prairie points as far east as Port Arthur and Armstrong, Ont.

J. A. Brass, secretary of the Canadian Passenger Association, Winnipeg, in announcing these fares, said they would permit stopovers at all points on direct route, on going or returning trips, within the 30-day limit.

Wooden Ships Go to Mainland

Contracts for the construction of six wooden minesweepers, involving a total outlay of $1,200,000, have been placed by Ottawa with Vancouver and New Westminster plants, according to mainland advisers.

While it is reported there is a definite probability that two other boats of similar type will be built at Vancouver Island yards, no information on the point has been received by Victoria wooden shipbuilders who submitted tenders on the minesweepers.

Armstrong Bros. and Victoria Motor Boat and Repair Works Ltd. tendered on the wooden ships.

A Nanaimo outfit was also reported to have bid on the work. The B.C. mainland yards which, according to Vancouver advisers, have received contracts for two each, are Benson's Boat Works Ltd. and Vancouver Shipyard Ltd., Vancouver, and Star Shipyard (Merchants), New Westminster.

Orders for material have been placed and work will commence shortly. The contracts call for completion within eight months.

Canadian Writers Arrive in Britain

LONDON (CP)—The first section of a party of 12 Canadian writers representing news services, daily and weekly newspapers, farm and business papers and magazine groups, arrived in Britain today.

They are in the United Kingdom to report on operations and work of the Canadian armed forces and civilians overseas. They are traveling as guests of the Canadian government, on joint invitation of the three ministers of national defence and War Services Minister Thorson.

Those who arrived today are Charles Bruce, general news editor, the Canadian Press, Toronto; Percy Cole, Monetary Times, Toronto; Herve Major, Montreal La Presse; Maj. Bert Wemp, Toronto Telegram; H. Napier Moore, Maclean's Magazine, Toronto; G. H. Sallans, British United Press, Montreal; and J. R. H. Sutherland, New Glasgow (N.S.) News.

It is expected the party will spend from four to six weeks in Britain.

Cruiser Cairo With Destroyer Foresight Sunk

LONDON (CP)—The anti-aircraft cruiser Cairo and the destroyer Foresight were sunk during the recent convoy operations in the Mediterranean, the Admiralty announced today.

Previously the Admiralty had announced the sinking of the aircraft carrier Eagle and the cruiser Manchester. The four ships were the total warship losses in the extensive convoy operations to supply and reinforce Malta, the Admiralty said.

The communiqué said the Admiralty would not divulge the number of ships in the convoy or the number of ships which arrived at Malta because "the extent of reinforcement which has been received by the fortress of Malta is obviously information of considerable importance to the enemy."

The Cairo, completed in 1919, was an old 4,200-ton cruiser which had been re-armed in 1939 for anti-aircraft duty. She carried a normal crew of 400 men.

The Foresight, completed in 1935, was a 1,550-ton destroyer capable of better than 36 knots. The Admiralty said it was natural that in such a hazardous operation "some losses were suffered in the convoy."

The fact that the loss of life and damage was not greater was due to the gallantry of the air crews and the seamanship of the sailors, the communiqué added.

The communiqué said that at least 66 Axis aircraft were certainly destroyed during the fight over the convoy.

Eight British aircraft were lost, but four of the pilots were saved.

Crewmen Defy Ration Order

Rather than surrender their sugar, tea and coffee ration cards aboard ship, as required by government order, the firemen of the Dominion lighthouse tender Estey, van walked ashore as the fully provisioned and loaded vessel was about to put to sea.

Six firemen and two coal passers were reported today to have been affected by the ration walk-out.

In the meantime the tender lay alongside her berth, unable to leave on her lighthouse cruise pending the settlement of the dispute, or the signing of a new fire gang.

The firemen claim they are entitled to retain possession of their ration cards, just the same as any other person ashore. The ship, however, is now classed as an institution, and all ration cards must be surrendered by crew members, in compliance with the government regulations.

Navigation Charts In New Colors

WASHINGTON—Navigation charts of the U.S. navy will now appear in new colors that show up in both daylight and under the red lights recently found best for war-darkened ships. This is revealed in an announcement of the new maps in the current issue of the Hydrographic Bulletin, published by the navy.

Studies conducted by the navy show, the Bulletin indicates, that the man who steps from a dark deck to a chart room illuminated by white or blue light, will require from 10 minutes to half an hour after he returns to the darkness before his eyes again become dark-adapted. This time required before he is able to see well in the dark is reduced to only a few seconds if the light used is red instead of blue.

But when the red lights and red goggles were introduced as a result of this study, it was found that the old colors on the navigation charts could no longer be distinguished. The buff color used for land, the orange which indicated navigational lights, and the red lines are all invisible under red lighting.

So in future charts, the land areas will be grey, the lights will be magenta, and purple will be substituted for red.

Care should be used in reading the old charts under red light, the hydrographic office warns, until new charts are available.

COULD NOT GET BY

DUNDALK, Northern Ireland (CP)—More than 5,000 Ulstermen who visited Eire recently and "leaded up" didn't get by eagle-eyed customs officers when they returned home. When their train reached here the officers seized about 800 pounds of butter, chocolates, frying pans, basins, shoes, crockery and cosmetics.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Trends became mixed in today's stock market after profit-taking halted an early rise which carried a number of rail and industrial leaders to new peaks for the year or longer.

The carrier stocks absorbed considerable selling based on their recent substantial advance, but as a rule they yielded ground grudgingly and held near previous closings in the final hour. Aircraft showed late resistance while steels, rubbers, motors and some industrial specialties were off fractions to around a point.

The market got some inspiration at the start from the general good feeling generated by the smashing commando raids on the French coast.

The Canadian section was firm. International nickel was up 1/4 and Hiram Walker 1/2. Canadian Pacific, Dome mines and Distillers Seagram held unchanged.

Dorothy Dix:

Are Happy Marriages Fewer Than in Dear Grandma's Day?

A correspondent asks: "Why are there fewer happy marriages now than there used to be? Has domesticity played out and is marriage a failure, as so many assert it is? Do the modern boy and girl make worse husbands and wives than their grandparents did? Do married couples make less effort to adjust themselves to each other now than they did in the past?"

To all these questions the answer is "yes" and "no." There is no denying that the divorce rate has gone up since our grandparents' day, but probably the percentage of unhappy marriages was just as great then as it is now. The ideal marriage in which both parties get their heart's desire and spend 40 or 50 years in billing and cooing is just a part of the fiction of the good old times which, in reality, never were.

There have always been philandering husbands and nagging wives. There have always been husbands and wives who looked glamorous before the altar and like something the cat brought home after they were married. There have always been domestic tyrants of both sexes. Uncongenial people, who hadn't a thing in the world in common, have always had a fatal passion for marrying each other. There hasn't been a single change in the matrimonial schedule since the first wedding took place.

The only difference is that in the past when people guessed wrong in picking out their mates, they swallowed their disappointment and kept quiet about it, while we squawk to Heaven about how we got stung. Grandpa may have gotten on Grandpa's nerves or bored him, but he didn't go around broadcasting his troubles and asking for a vote of public sympathy. Grandpa may have had a wandering foot, but Grandpa pretended not to know it and gave a lifelike impersonation of a happy wife, instead of taking the children and going back to mother.

THEY MARRIED FOR KEEPS
It was not, because Grandpa and Grandma were more happily married than their grandchildren are that they carried on, but because in those days people married for keeps and not for experimentation, and so they made the best of their bargains.

Also, it was because divorce, no matter for what cause, was considered more or less of a disgrace. It was just something the best people didn't do, instead of being fashionable as it is now. So people endured their misfit mates, instead of swapping them off for something they hoped they would like better.

So far as women, who are the chief patrons of the divorce courts, are concerned, the fact that most of them now are self supporting makes them more choosy about their husbands than Grandma could have been. No matter how much Grandma may have lost her taste for Grandpa, she had to stick it and pretend to like it if he was her meal ticket. But now, when women can earn their own cakes and ale, they don't have to endure husbands who are too much unlike their favorite movie heroes.

In reality, judged by the standards of the past, the modern husband and wife are simply grade A-1. They are the best the world has ever known and should make marriage a shining success, for apparently they have every qualification for doing so. They marry for love. They select their own mates. They are intelligent, educated, and accord their husbands and wives a degree of personal liberty that their grandparents never would have dreamed of doing.

WHY THEY FAILED

But that, in spite of all this, they so often make failures of their marriages is attributable chiefly to two things: The first is that they demand too much of marriage. They expect it to be the one and only perfect human institution. They expect it to be a career in which one can achieve success without working at it, or bringing any patience or even a medium of commonsense to bear in solving its problems.

They expect the marriage ceremony to be some kind of an enchantment that will turn the ordinary, faulty, run-of-the-mill boy or girl they marry into saints and sages, and work a miracle in themselves that will change their whole natures so that the high-tempered will become amiable, the extravagant thrifty; the undomestic will know how to cook; the lazy will go to work; the wild will be tamed, and the run-arounds will become fireside companions. When none of these things happen and their Marys and Johns are the same after marriage as they were before, they cry out that marriage is a failure, and throw up their hands and quit.

The second reason why so many marriages are unhappy is because the modern generation is too soft. It can't take the punishment of marriage. It wants a marriage in which the wife stays perpetually young and beautiful and the husband never ceases to be a great lover, and to live on wedding cakes and champagne. And, alas, there are no such marriages in real life.

Perhaps it was because grandma and grandpa didn't expect so much of marriage as their grandchildren do that they were not so often disappointed.

Modern Egypt is Slow-moving, But Has Made Some Progress

A visitor to Egypt may see the people following ancient customs. For example, they still use the "shadoof."

A shadoof is a device for raising water from one level to another. A pole serves as a lever, and at one end of it is a kind of pail. At the other end is a weight, perhaps nothing more than a ball of dry mud. The pole is balanced on a board or crosspiece. The pail is lowered into the water, then is raised with the help of the weight on the other end of the pole.

THIS IS A PICTURE BY AN ARTIST OF AN ANCIENT EGYPT. IT WAS DONE ABOUT THREE THOUSAND YEARS AGO! A SLAVE IS DIPPING THE BUCKET OF A "SHADOOF" INTO A POND IN WHICH WATER-LILIES ARE GROWING. THE SAME DEVICE FOR RAISING WATER IS USED IN EGYPT TO THIS DAY.

Present-day shadoofs are somewhat better made than those of ancient times. Yet they are built on the same principle.

If a nation does not change its ways, it tends to move toward decay and death. Only by progress of some kind can it live through the centuries.

To a certain extent, Egypt has let the rest of the world go by. Five thousand years ago it was the greatest country in the world. It was a leader in making metal tools, in working with glass and in the art of writing. We may thank the ancient Egyptians for much of the work which gave us our alphabet.

The Egypt of today is far from being the foremost nation of the earth. It still has mighty pyramids and treasures of olden kings, but they are from the past. The present country seems very slow-moving to a person from the western world.

Yet of all the lands I have visited I have found Egypt the most interesting. Pyramids, sphinxes, huge statues of kings, and walls of ancient temples are there to be seen and studied. The museum at Cairo, with its rich store of treasures from King Tut's tomb, is one of the best historical museums to be found anywhere.

—Egypt is an extremely old country. Only China and Iraq can lay claim to as long a history, and neither of them has as clear a story as Egypt. To live so long is in itself a proof of a nation's strength.

Some steps have been taken in Egypt to meet the needs of the modern world. Railways have been laid between the larger cities, and they handle a large volume of freight and passenger traffic.

Another forward step has been the building of Aswan Dam. This dam is the largest in Africa, and we shall speak of it more fully in our story tomorrow.

Pat Bay Personnel Enjoy Stage Show

More than 600 of the personnel of the R.C.A.F. at Patricia Bay enjoyed another stage presentation by Capt. Frank Armitage last Monday night.

Capt. Armitage, traveling under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. War Services, won over everybody at the opening of the show by mingling with the audience.

The stage, which in the words of Capt. Armitage is one of the finest he ever performed on in Canada, added greatly to the success of the show. His impersonations of such Dickens characters as "Grandfather Smallweed," "Master Squeers," "Sydney Carton," and "Old Scrooge," were most realistic.

An unusual feature of the program was the ventriloquist number, which he gave, with the assistance of "Johnny." The R.C.A.F. band was in attendance, and played a group of numbers at the beginning of the performance.

Capt. Armitage was introduced by Lorne Brown, senior supervisor, Y.M.C.A. War Services, at Patricia Bay. Wing-Comdr. A. Carter, M.M., acting commanding officer, thanked him on behalf of the men.
